Johnson Signs Bill For $2 Billion in Aid to Education

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson signed today legislation providing nearly $2 billion in federal aid to higher education over a 3-year period. He said he was "proud and happy to do so."

He called the legislation the "most significant education bill passed by the Congress in the history of the Republic."

A big delegation from Capitol Hill, educators and government officials watched the signing. Johnson said this and other legislation in the field of education would mark this Congress as one of the greatest in history in providing the tools to fight illiteracy, poverty and disease.

The late President John F. Kennedy fought hard for aid to higher education, Johnson said and called the legislation a monument to him, as well as to all those in Congress who assisted in its passage. The federal money will be used to help colleges and universities build classrooms, laboratories and oratories and libraries.

Johnson used 60 pens in his first ceremonial bill signing. He ran out of pens at one point and had to send an aide for more.

After distributing them to congressmen, administration officials, and education leaders, he even handed one to a photographer.

"Now, don't come back next time," Johnson told the photographer. "You've got yours."

Johnson said he was giving Lawrence O'Brien, White House congressional liaison man, the pen that would have gone to absent Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

"Nobody deserves one more than you," he told O'Brien.

After signing the bill, Johnson put his signature on three sheets of postage stamps for Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen, Jr., R-N.J. The congressman said that he collects stamps, and has two children who are collectors, too.

3-Year Outlay

The bill that finally reached the White House authorizes a federal outlay of $1,195,000,000 over three years. Its aim is to make room in higher education institutions for enrollments expected to increase from 4.2 million in 1962 to 7 million by 1970.

More than half the money—$690 million—is earmarked for grants for construction of undergraduate and junior college facilities. Each state must use 22 per cent of its allotment for public junior colleges and technical institutes.

The remainder can go to both public and private undergraduate colleges for building libraries and science, engineering, mathematics and foreign language classrooms. The federal grant would be limited to one-third of such construction costs.

Another $145 million will go for establishing or improving graduate schools, with the federal grants again being limited to one-third of the total cost.

Finally, the bill provides $360 million that can be used for long-term, low-interest loans for construction of all higher education academic facilities.

Johnson, Aides In Conference On U. S. Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson summoned five top aides to the White House today for a conference on the budget he will send to Congress next month.

Called to the late morning session were Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, Budget Director Kermit Gordon, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, Director David E. Bell of the Agency for International Development and Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric.

The President's schedule called also for ceremonial signing of a bill to authorize $1,195,000,000 in federal aid for construction of college classrooms, laboratories and libraries, and a luncheon with FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Johnson conferred at the White House Sunday with Thomas C. Mann, who has been appointed assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs.

19 Hostages Still in Hands Of Tin Miners

Explanation Sought Regarding Deal For Their Release

BY THOMAS J. STONE

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Communist-led tin miners continued to hold 19 hostages today, including four Americans, while awaiting an explanation of a deal for their release negotiated by leftist Vice President Juan Lechin.

It was hoped the hostages would be released sometime today after Lechin, head of the Miners' Union, explains the agreement at a general meeting in Catavi, the mining center 180 miles southeast of La Paz, where the hostages were held.

Christmas Story Of 'The Gospels' In Post-Crescent

The apostles' account of the Christmas story rarely hints at the turmoil and fears of the times in which they wrote.

Each writer — Matthew, Mark, Luke and John — told of the same events from different points of view, yet the form of what has come to be known as "The Gospels," has a distinctive oneness.

George W. Cornell, AP's religion writer, has thoroughly researched this fascinating subject for an illuminating series designed for reading the week before Christmas.

The stories of Matthew and John, the two apostles who knew Christ and included first-hand information in their accounts; of Luke, the gentle physician drawn into the movement by the apostle Paul; and of Mark, the rich scion of Jerusalem who got most of the material he wrote about Jesus from the apostle Peter.

More Consumer Goods

MOSCOW (AP)—A cut of 4.3 per cent in the Soviet military budget and an increase of 53 per cent in investments for consumer goods industries over the next two years were announced today.

The new budget submitted to the Supreme Soviet — Parliament — reflected Premier Khrushchev's proclaimed goal of giving the Russian people more bread and fewer guns.

But it was only a modest start in his plans for giant boosts in fertilizer and other consumer industries in the next seven years.

With Khrushchev listening, Finance Minister Vasily Garbuzov announced the military budget for 1964 would be cut by 600 million rubles—$666 million at the official exchange rate. A cut had been promised by Khrushchev at the meeting of the Communist Party Central Committee last week.

Without giving figures, national planner Pyotr Lomako announced additional investments in agriculture, housing, light industry and food processing in the 1964-65 period would be 53 per cent higher than in the past two years.

The military budget for 1964 totals 13.3 billion rubles ($14.76 billion) out of a total government expenditure of 91.3 billion rubles ($101.34 billion).

NATO Assured U.S. Won't Cut Down Power in Europe

Probers Trying to Determine Cause Of Breach in Dam at Los Angeles

Damage Set at $10 Million Or More; at Least 3 Perish

BY ROBERT M. BURNETT

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Three hundred million gallons of water roared out of a gaping hole leaving three persons dead, at least $10 million damage—and one big unanswered question: Why?

Investigators tried to find the cause of Saturday's devastating flood today as cleanup crews and owners of ravaged homes moved in to clear the stricken area of tons of muck and debris.

For some, there was nothing to be done.

The giant wall of water from the breaking dam swept blocks of homes away. Only deep, eroded gullies remained where attractive dwellings stood. Sixty-four homes were destroyed and 82 were severely damaged.

More fortunate residents picked among the ruins of their shattered homes, hoping to salvage items left behind when the order to evacuate disrupted the tranquil neighborhood.

Disaster Shakes Earth

The big 19.5-acre reservoir, owned by the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power, burst with a mighty roar Saturday afternoon after a small leak developed earlier in the day.

The earth shook as huge chunks of earth from the dam collapsed into the hole created by the rushing waters.

The flood smashed through Scores of Milwaukeean residents, starting with money, clothes, gifts, food and toys after reading newspaper stories of McKnight's plight.

McKnight, his wife and three children, started hitchhiking for Florida Saturday night because he couldn't find a job here. They wore light clothing. McKnight had only 20 cents in his pocket.

McKnight, 26, said that after failing to find work in Milwaukee he had lined up a job on a fishing boat in Miami, Fla., and had to get there by Wednesday. A business executive bought the family a $130 bus ticket to Florida.

"If I ever hear anyone say anything bad about Milwaukee, I'm going to club him," McKnight said. "You sure got a lot of terrific people around here."

Thick Layer of Mud

Up to 10 inches of thick mud covered everything in the path of the water.

The many-faceted investigation starting today will attempt to answer:

Mayor Samuel Yorty, who wants to know why the dam broke.

Thousands of flood victims, who want to know who will pay for the damage.

Thousands of other residents, living below similar reservoirs, and wondering...

Troops to Stay as Long As Needed, Johnson Says In Message to Allies

BY TOM OCHILTREE

PARIS (AP)—President Johnson assured the North Atlantic Alliance today that the United States will maintain its troop strength in Europe so long as these men are needed.

Johnson's promise was contained in a message read by Secretary of State Dean Rusk at the opening of NATO's 3-day winter ministerial meeting to survey the state of Western defenses and hopes for peace.

Johnson stressed that his administration would continue the late President Kennedy's strong line of support for NATO.

Johnson called for "a balanced NATO defense posture, including powerful nuclear and non-nuclear forces, which will deter aggression." The President added:

"To NATO's continuing fulfillment of this task, I pledge my country's will and resources. We will keep in Europe the equivalent of six American divisions that are now deployed there, so long as they are needed; and under present circumstances there is no doubt that they will continue to be needed."

With his pledge, the new American President tried to put at rest the speculation that has been current in Europe since the "Big Lift" exercise two months ago that a sizable withdrawal of U.S. troops was in the wind. Other U.S. officials have also given such assurances repeatedly since Big Lift. Johnson said U.S. fulfillment of its NATO commitments is "a lasting memorial to the stature of President Kennedy."

But he also called on America's allies to do their part, saying:

"I am confident that our allies will also make their full contributions to this NATO defense, so that the burdens and responsibilities of partnership may be equitably shared."

Offers Reassurance

Richard A. Butler called for continuing contacts with the Soviet Union for an easing of East-West tensions. But he promised Britain would do nothing to upset Western strategy. His remarks inside the closed door session were reported to newsmen by a NATO spokesman.

"Persuasion must supplement force," he said.

Fliers' Bodies Discovered In Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The bodies of three American aviators missing after their helicopter crashed into the ocean were recovered on a lonely beach in central Viet Nam today.

The bodies were flown to Saigon for an autopsy to determine the cause of death. No wreckage was sighted.

The copilot, only survivor of the crash 15 miles south of Quang Ngai, told authorities the helicopter crashed Saturday night half a mile offshore as it started to land to pick up wounded Vietnamese troops.

Not Combat Victims

The American spokesman said the three dead Americans were considered noncombat casualties.

The copilot said the helicopter was coming in for a landing "when suddenly I found water around my knees." Two accompanying helicopters completed their missions.

The copilot swam ashore and spent Saturday night hiding in the bushes. He contacted government rescuers Sunday.

A U.S. officer was killed when Communist guerrillas fired at a battalion of Vietnamese infantrymen in the jungles of northern Quang Tin province. The officer was an adviser to the battalion. There were no other government casualties.

A Boy About 3 and his sister, about 1, presented this scene for photographers at a high school evacuation center in Los Angeles Saturday night after they were rescued from flood waters of a broken reservoir. An officer said he pulled them out of a car which was filling with water and sinking. They were not identified and parents have not been found. (AP Wirephoto)

6 Children Die as Fire Destroys Duplex Home at Portland, Maine

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—Five little girls and a boy died early today when fire raced through their duplex home near downtown Portland.

William F. Harrigan said the fire started around midnight when he spilled oil while trying to light a space heater.

Slept on Upper Floor

Harrigan and his wife, Leona, were on the first floor. Their seven children and three state wards who lived with the family were asleep on the second floor of the wood frame house.

The 40-year-old railroad employee and his wife succeeded in helping three of their children out of the house before they were forced to flee the smoke and flames. A fourth child made her own way to safety.

But three daughters and the three state wards died in the flaming house. A medical examiner said all six suffocated. The survivors were held over

'Power Politics' by GOP Upsets Reynolds' Judicial District Plans

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The uses of power in politics were never better shown than in the legislature's decision to provide an extra circuit judge in the southeastern Wisconsin judicial district composed of Kenosha and Walworth counties which has been growing in population at a more rapid rate than the rest of the state.

Gov. John Reynolds was persuaded to include the situation in his call for a special legislative session, assuming that the legislature would simply add an additional judge to the circuit, while continuing it as two counties.

But the legislature has Republican majorities in each house. Kenosha County is heavily Democratic and can outvote Walworth County, which is even more decisively Republican. The governor's plan would almost surely have brought about the election of a Democratic judge. The legislature severed Walworth county, established it as a separate circuit, and authorized a new circuit judge. The result will be the election of a Republican — assuming that the governor signs the enactment. Having nominated the court over as a problem of sufficient importance to include in his legislative session call, it will be difficult for him to veto the bill.

The Republican state committee does not propose to forfeit the work and the influence of intellectuals in the Wisconsin voting community to the Democrats. An effort to enroll teachers, scientists, and other intellectual workers in the 1964 Republican campaign effort is already underway by Talbot Peterson, chairman of the Republican state committee. The membership rolls used in the 1960 presidential campaign will be used as a base for the new solicitation.

'Favorite Son'

If Rep. John W. Byrnes de-rides against the use of his name on the spring presidential primary ballot as a "favorite son" candidate for purposes of committee meeting recently, pledging the Wisconsin Republican national convention delegation the idea of an uncontested primary won't be abandoned.

Draft Brennan

A likely alternative will be the use of the name of Warren P. Knowles of New Richmond, who is expected to win the nomination for the governorship either without opposition or without significant opposition.

The filing of the name of Gov. Reynolds for the Democratic presidential primary as a stand-in, meanwhile, remains a likely possibility. The unspoken pledge would be to President Johnson an additional judge to the circuit, while continuing it as two counties.

The selection by Gov. Reynolds of Owen Monfils of Green Bay as new director of the State Civil Defense Bureau was the first major patronage award to any of his old associates in the Brown County Democratic organization which generated the governor's political career.

The governor's intimate political circle includes a number of other prominent Green Bay Democrats, but they have not been interested in holding state office.

The state tobacco dealers' trade organization, constantly on the alert against further cigarette tax proposals, currently reports that the combined state and federal excise taxes on cigarettes now yield more than three billions annually, which is four times as much as the tobacco growers receive for their crop yearly.

The first state tax on cigarettes was enacted in 1921, and now all states except North Carolina, Oregon and Colorado impose such levies. The Wisconsin tax is relatively old, among the states. What may not be generally known is that 185 cities, none in Wisconsin, also tax cigarettes.

Wilbur Renk is telling reporters that he has not yet made up his mind whether he will run for U.S. senator on the Republican ticket. But when he name on the spring presidential primary ballot as a "favorite son" candidate for purposes of committee meeting recently, they discussed expertly and at length their contemplated budget and plan for publicity in such a campaign.

There is talk among Democrats about drafting James Brennan, the U. S. attorney for the eastern district of Wisconsin, to run for congressman in the new ninth district abutting Milwaukee.

Meanwhile, around Madison, politicians have the impression that Bronson LaFollette, an assistant in the U.S. attorney's office for the western district, will probably seek the party nomination for state attorney general as suggested by some of the top men of the party organization. LaFollette is young, in relation to such a high office, but he bears a distinguished name. He is the son and grandson of the former U. S. senators from Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin Towns Association, which anticipates more political difficulty in the legislature as the urbanization of the state continues, is enjoying a satisfying spurt in membership. Dues paying town boards are more numerous than ever before in the history of the group, according to a recent report from headquarters.

The State Department of Public Welfare is starting to apply pressure upon county mental hospitals, under a 1959 law which imposed minimum standards of care and operation for the local institutions, and directed the state agency to enforce them.

Statutory Standards

Wilbur Schmidt, director of the department, says that the statutory standards are relatively modest, and probably minimum in the view of mental hygienists. Accordingly, the en-

Miss Jenkins is the daughter of Mrs. Verna Jenkins, 549 N. Linwood Ave. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kurtig, 676 S. Park Ave., Neenah, are the parents of Miss Kurtig.

Each young woman, a June High School graduate, will be gowned in traditional 'debutante' white for the occasion. She will be presented to club president Charles Schueppert, who will introduce her to members and friends.

University of Wisconsin Students

Miss Jenkins, a graduate of Appleton High School, is a student at the University of Wisconsin. Miss Kurtig, a Wayland Academy graduate, is also a student at Madison.

Each girl will invite three couples to have dinner at the club with her and her escort. In keeping with the plan to make the party 'special' for the young people, high school and college age daughters and sons of members will be permitted for the first time to attend the dinner and presentations. Invitations will also be sent out by the presentees to their friends for the 10 p.m. dance, after the introductions.

Parties Before, After Ball

The young women, their escorts and dinner companions will begin the gala evening with a cocktail party at the Jenkins home. The Kurtigs will be assistant hosts at both the pre-ball party, and the post-ball get-together, also at the Jenkins residence.

Mrs. Raymond LeVe and Mrs. Frank Pechman are co-chairmen of this year's Coronet Ball. Mrs. Eric Lindbergh will be organist, playing the theme song, "A Pretty Girl is Like a Melody," and the songs the girls have chosen for their presentations.

Combined Families

Family of 16 Youngsters Small Problem to Couple

BY RUSSELL LANDSTROM
DALLAS, Pa. (AP) — A dozen gallons of milk, up to 75 loaves of bread, potatoes by the bushel, sugar by the hundredweight—wouldn't that jolt your family food budget for one week?

It is routine reckoning in the teeming household of Dr. and Mrs. Jay Young, who were married 16 months ago and now have 16 children.

Young, 42, head of the chemistry department at King's College in nearby Wilkes-Barre, was a widower with 12 children, and Ann Treacy, 37, was a South Bend, Ind., widow with four, when they married on Aug. 15, 1962.

Only One Away
Only one of the 16 sons and daughters doesn't live at home in this hard coal country town of about 3,000. John, 21, the eldest, is in his third year of study for the priesthood at the Holy Cross Fathers' Novitiate in Bennington, Vt.

The other Young children are: Paul, 19, a part-time student at King's College; Cecilia, 17, a freshman at College Misericordia here; Michael, 16, a sophomore at West Side Central Catholic High School in neighboring Kingston; Joseph, 15, a sophomore at Dallas High; Andrea, 14, a freshman at West Side Central Catholic; Theresa, 13; Gregory, 11; Thomas, 10; Lucy, 8; and Margaret, 6, who attend a parochial school in Dallas; and Antonia, 4.

The Treacy children are John, 7; Michael, 8; Cathleen, 10; and Eileen, 11, who attend the same parochial school as the others.

"What the professor and his wife need," said a neighbor affectionately, "are a school bus all their own, a built-in grocery store, and a half-dozen dairy cows."

19-Room House

The Youngs say they manage very well in their 19-room three-story house, with three bathrooms, eight bedrooms, a restaurant style refrigerator-freezer, and a U-shaped table in the dining room.

Mrs. Young usually shops on Monday, a quiet day in the stores. She says the family grocery bill is about $300 a month. Milk, which is delivered, is extra.

The Youngs hold in storage whopping supplies of meat, fish, poultry, frozen fruits and vegetables. Fresh vegetables and bakery goods are bought on an approximation of a wholesale plan.

Nearly everyone has a hand in making dinner. Mother looks after the meat. The girls prepare and cook the potatoes and other vegetables. Father helps set the table.

Bedtime is 8 to 9:30 or perhaps 10, throughout the school year. The average day in the Young home starts at 5:30 a.m. Young says he is glad to let more people know about his family "because I should like to encourage others to appreciate the benefits of large families."

He thinks the wider experience, the greater sharing, the community feeling, the give-and-take, the range of personality that characterize so large a family as his are of immeasurable value in the children's development.

Stitch a Doll for Wining Yule Gift

Girls and dolls just nat- can be stuffed with cotton bat- go together at Christmas ting. and even little boys o whimsical character ke sailors or clowns. he youngster on your gift nake a trio of loveable dolls. They're easy to and will give you lots of fun. hree can be made from the arms five inches long and the legs 10 inches. Again, add that you can draw you a one-half inch seam allowance. Use white cotton satin for the e 20 inches in height and body, cutting front and back

Basic Pattern

To make a basic pattern, draw the head and body in one piece measuring 11 inches in over-all length and five inches in width. Add one-half inch seam allowance. Then draw separate pat- terns for arms and legs, making the arms five inches long and the legs 10 inches. Again, add that you can draw you a one-half inch seam allowance. Use white cotton satin for the e 20 inches in height and body, cutting front and back sections from same pattern. Stitch around arms on three sides, turn, and stuff with bat- ting. Stitch in position to front side of doll's body at seam line. Make legs in same manner and attach to front of body.

Then sew front and back sec- tions of body together, leaving an opening on one side under the arm for stuffing. Slip-stitch opening.

With your basic dolls stitched and stuffed, you can now create different types by varying their costumes, hair-dos, and facial features. And this is where the fun comes in. apply your imagination to give each doll a distinct personality.

Here are three possible vari- ations.

Nautical Suit

Make a true sailor lad by fashioning a nautical suit with bell-bottom trousers from bright blue cotton fabric. For his sea- going pullover, sew narrow red and white ribbon in stripes on the nautical dickey and use red ribbon to trim the sailor collar. Add V-shaped stripes on his left sleeve, setting your sewing ma- chine for a wide satin stitch. Use red thread for two of the stripes, and white for the one in the center. Shape a French- type sailor cap from blue fab- ric, and finish it off with a red pom-pom which you can snip from cotton ball fringe.

For a loveable little girl doll, outfit her in a floral-printed dress, lace-trimmed pantalets, and a saucy cap. Make a sim- ple sleeveless dress by gather- ing fabric at neckline and edg- ing with lace. Add ribbon ties at back to make it easy for young mothers to dress and undress the doll. Use solid-colored cot- ton batiste for dainty, lace-trim- med pantalets and run a narrow elastic band through the top hem. Crown dolly's head with bright yellow braids, made by plaiting seven strands of cotton yarn. The mopsy cap is a sim- ple circle of printed cotton dress fabric, edged with a lace-bor- dered two-inch ruffle of the sol- id-colored pantalet fabric.

Every child loves a clown doll and his costume is one of the easiest to make. Choose a bright- ly colored polka dot cotton and gather at ankles, wrists, and neck. A gathered ruffle in con- trasting fabric shapes a face- framing collar, and red pom- poms trim his dunce cap.

To make facial features and shoes for each of the dolls, use cotton scraps from your sewing basket and handtack in place.

SEAMS TO ME

By Patricia Scott

Make Purse Like Clown

All little girls love clowns, both happy and sad. So, why not make a clown purse that will delight them on Christ- mas morning.

A piece of white felt 10"x 22"; a piece of red felt 10"x 20"; one pack- age of jumbo red rickrack; a scrap of baby rickrack in black; mercerized cotton thread in red, white and black; four 1/2 inch half-ball buttons; scraps of red yarn.

To make:

1. From white felt, cut two circles 9 inches in diameter. 2. From red felt, cut two triangles as shown in diagram. Cut two mouths and four 1-inch circles for eyes.

3. On one mouth section, stitch black rickrack around (as shown in happy sketch) about 1/2 inch in from the edge. On the other piece (sad mouth) stitch one row through the center.

4. Whip one mouth to each felt circle (one turned up and the other turned down).

5. Whip 1-inch circles to face for eyes. 2 1/2 inches apart. At- tach buttons to centers. Stitch a strip of black rickrack above each for brows, curving for ap- propriate expression.

6. Make two small pom-poms of red yarn and attach to the center of each face for the nose.

7. Place the two face sections together, back to back, mouths, eyes, etc. against each other. Starting and stopping 1/2 inches from center top on either side, insert and baste red rickrack between the two layers, letting points extend. Top - stitch around through all thicknesses, leaving the top open.

8. Stitch rickrack across the both happy and sad. So, why not make a clown purse that will delight them on Christ- mas morning. A piece of white felt 10"x 22"; a piece of red felt 10"x 20"; one pack- age of jumbo red rickrack; a scrap of baby rickrack in black; mercerized cotton thread in red, white and black; four 1/2 inch half-ball buttons; scraps of red yarn.

9. Wind yarn about 20 times around a 4-inch piece of card- board. Slip off, place center be- tween tips of red felt at top of hats and tack tips securely to- gether, including yarn. Cut through the looped ends of the yarn.

Zion Temple Observes Chanukah, Festival of Lights

The eight-day Jewish holiday that symbolizes the struggle for religious freedom began Tuesday. Chanukah, also known as the Festival of Lights, is primarily a family observance, with a single candle lit the first night and an additional one each succeeding night until eight candles light the Menorah or special candelabra.

Children of the Jewish faith receive gifts on each day of Chanukah.

Special services marking the festival were held by the Zion Temple Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Richman, 1625 Ravinia Place. The choir performed during the 8 p.m. program and a special memorial service was held for the late President John F. Kennedy.

The Festival of Chanukah was celebrated by members of the Zion Temple Friday evening at the Sumner Richman home. Above, Louis Marshall drinks wine at the observance of the rededication of the Jewish people to religious freedom. Below, Nancy and Robert Richman light candles at this most happy of holidays. Singing in the choir, above right, foreground, are Mrs. Henry Chudacoff and Mrs. Stephen Freschi. Behind them are Mrs. Oscar Nemschoff, Mrs. Jay Wallens, Mrs. Arnold Colodas and Mrs. Richman. Teen Doesn't Need a Friend, Just Needs a Sense of Humor

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 16-year-old girl who has the nuttiest family anybody ever heard of. My mother's mother is only 13 years older than my mother. Grandma had a baby boy two years after I was born. This means that my uncle is 14 years old.

Uncle Harvey is a mean little squirt and he has always been very smart for his age. This fall he entered the same high school I go to and it is really embarrassing. Harvey goes around telling everybody that he is my uncle and I could just die. To make matters worse, my mother says I have to call him Uncle Harvey no matter how old he is, because he is my uncle and nothing is going to change that.

Tell me what you think about this, Ann Landers. If ever I needed a friend on my side I do now. Please help me.—Frazzled Fran

Dear Frazzled: What you really need, Toots, is a sense of humor. I can't imagine anything funnier than calling this little squirt "Uncle"—and you should do so at every opportunity. When you figure that life has handed you a lemon—make lemonade.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I noticed that you sometimes print straight over to our house. Then worthwhile contributions from I have to whip up a little snack for your readers. I ran across some and suddenly their guests being which I think has a great deal of merit. If you agree, will you print it, please"—Avid Ann takes me to the side and whispers, "You saved my life. I didn't have a thing in the house to give them. I don't know what I'd do without you."

Both my husband and I are fed to the teeth on this routine idea that I must express myself. Often we have plans of our own which are ruined because these two drop in with their company. Please tell me what to do.—Pigeon

Dear Pidge: The very next time the free-loaders appear at your door say, "I'm so sorry, we were just leaving." Then leave—even if it's only to the drug store to buy a tube of toothpaste.

If you do this three times you won't have to do it a fourth.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Commit No Crimes In Bridge

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD
 "Oh, bridge," a famous French player said upon ascending the scaffold, "what crimes are committed in this name!" It was soon after the play of the hand shown today, and of course every alert reader of this column will know instantly which player was sent to the guillotine.

West opened the five of clubs, and East won with the queen. The nine of spades allowed West to cash two spade tricks.

after which he continued with the ace of hearts and another heart for East to ruff.

East cashed the ace of clubs, giving West a chance to get rid of his last spade. Now East led a spade for West to ruff and West led another heart for East to ruff.

By this time South was down to his five trumps, and a club lead through him promoted another trump trick for West. If South ruffed low, West would over-ruff; and if South ruffed high, West's ten of trumps would win a trick naturally.

South made only four tricks and suffered a penalty of 400 points. This should of course, tell you which player had no real use for his head. Decide for yourself before you read on.

Bread and Water
 South should have been sentenced to bread and water for thirty days for his vulnerable overcall of two diamonds. Such a sentence is not strictly necessary, however, since a player who habitually makes such bids will soon find himself unable to afford anything dearer than bread and water.

The real criminal was West, and his crime was passing. He should have been delighted to let, "A Pocket Guide to Bridge," double two diamonds. If the and 50c to Bridge Book, Box cards were well placed he could expect to collect a sub-

Unused Filler Hardens

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: We have some partly used containers of plastic wood. The unused material has hardened. Can this be softened so that we can use it?

A: Yes. A special plastic wood solvent, made by the same manufacturer, is available for dried material still in the container. Add several drops and allow to remain overnight.

Q: If turpentine is added to a gloss or semigloss paint, is the gloss dulled? What is preferable for thinning paint?

A: Yes: adding turpentine (or mineral spirits) to a gloss paint results in some dulling of the gloss. Raw linseed oil (unless the paint manufacturer specifies otherwise on the label) is preferable for thinning paint.

Q: We have a large cedar closet in our bedroom for storing clothes, etc. Do you recommend keeping the door open for periods to air the closet?

A: Definitely not. A cedar closet should not be opened any more frequently than necessary in order not to dissipate the cedar odor. For this reason, the closet is built as airtight, and tightly sealed as possible (in-cluding weatherstripping around the door, if necessary). Only orange rind as a pretty garnish, other time and seemed annoyed

A: Moisture stains with glycerine to dissolve the coloring matter. Then, to remove the glycerine, cover the areas with a thick paste made of powdered chalk and a nonflammable liquid spot remover, being sure the room is well ventilated. When dry, brush off and repeat treatment, if necessary.

Q: We have recently visited a home that had grass cloth on the walls. We like this material very much and would like to cover our living room walls with it. But is there any way to clean this?

A: Yes: First the grass cloth must be brushed with a stiff brush to loosen dust, then this is removed with a vacuum. Any remaining dirt is removed with wallpaper cleaner (available paint, hardware and wallpaper stores), which resembles dough and is rolled over the wall surface. A liquid cleaner will tend to loosen the paste which holds the grass cloth to the walls.

CART BEFORE HORSE

Dear Louise: A friend phoned two weeks ago saying that she had decided to give me a birthday party the following Saturday evening and that all the guests had accepted. I was taken aback for I had plans all made to spend that weekend with my former college roommate in another city. I felt that I had to go through with my original plans. My friend begged when I told her I couldn't, I don't think she had any reason to feel like that. Do you? And do you think I should have made a diplomatic effort to postpone my week end visit?

Louise Davis Answers: Both your questions get a no. Your local friend was presumptuous to think that your time was free for the birthday party. Since you were to have been her guest of honor, she should have checked with you before inviting any of her guests. She was thoughtless and selfish to even hope that you would cancel your weekend plans or to postpone the visit which would have inconvenienced and even provoked your former roommate.

FAIR EXCHANGE

Dear Louise: If a boy who casually dates a girl mentions that he has a Christmas present for her, should she give him one even though she doesn't feel she knows him that well?

E.R.E., Columbia, S.C.
Louise Davis Answers: No. I suggest that the girl send the boy a Christmas card. That is enough.

Passed-on Clothing Would Make Good Gift for Son

DEAR DR. JONES: We get with therapy because my boy many clothes from friends who know we don't have much money. They're always nice clothes, and I always add something new to them when I fix them up for my children.

We just received a beautiful suit that is so nice I'd like to give it to my 14-year-old son as a Christmas present. My husband says my son's feelings would be hurt because I wouldn't be giving him anything, just passing along a suit someone else gave us. MRS L.D.

Your son's old enough to understand your circumstances. So why try to fool him?

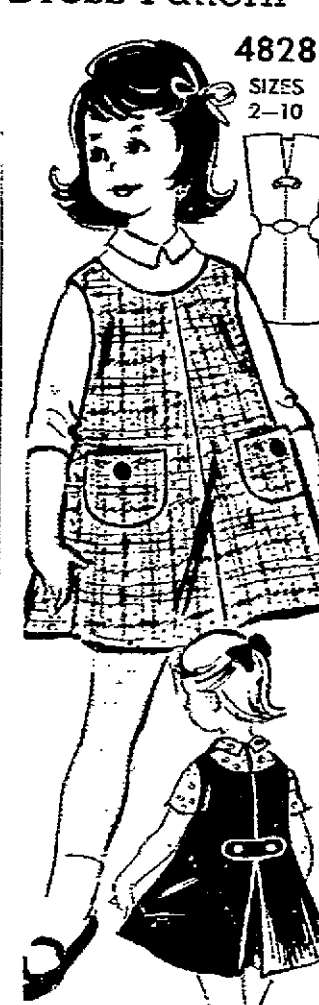

If you can't afford more than a dollar or two for his present, why don't you just buy a tie or belt or new shirt to go with the suit? Then you can wrap both together for a super-terrific package, with a card from you and the person who gave you the suit.

DEAR DR. JONES: My nine-year-old boy started to stutter when he first began talking. I followed our physician's advice and things went along well enough until my boy started 1st grade. Then his teacher recommended speech therapy for him. She made him so nervous that his stutter became worse and he even started wetting the bed. I took him to a pediatrician who recommended speech therapy. But I decided after talking with her not to go ahead.

I still took him to the speech therapist. But I decided after talking with her not to go ahead.

Indoor Game 'Kick-It' Is Played With Coat Hangers

BY CAPPY DICK

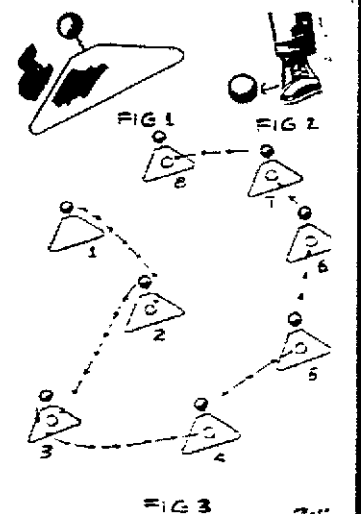

"Kick-It" is a homemade game that has some resemblance to golf, but is played with coat hangers for tees and greens and the ball is propelled by nudging it with the side of your foot instead of striking it with a golf club.

Place eight wire coat hangers on the floor, arranging them in an irregular oval as in Figure 3.

A tee is the hook of the coat hanger. Place the ball in the circle formed by the hook (Figure 1).

Figure 2 shows how you must use the side of your foot to nudge the ball out of the hook and across the floor to land within the triangle formed by triangle of Hanger No. 3. Continue all the way around to No. 8. Count the number of times you kick the ball to travel the entire course. This is your score.

After you have passed Hanger No. 2, the second player may start. The player who travels out, place it in the tee of No. 2 the course in the fewest kicks is and nudge it out to land in the winner.

Tree Safety Important At Christmas

Good Appearance,
Hazard Reduction
Go Hand-in-Hand

From the National Board of Fire Underwriters comes some tips on Christmas tree safety. In many instances, better tree appearance and reduction of fire hazard go hand in hand. Tree buyers are advised:

Make sure the tree you buy is a fresh one. When you select your tree, feel the needles. If the tree is fresh, they will be firmly attached. Avoid the tree with needles which drop off when brushed.

Eliminate the possibility of your tree drying out before Christmas by keeping it outdoors until the day you decorate it. You can help keep the tree fresh by standing it in a pail of water.

Raising a small tree too high increases chances of it being accidentally tipped and exposes light wiring more unless lead-ins come from a high outlet or safe-type ceiling fixture socket insert.

Reduce chances of a Christmas tree fire by placing the tree in the coolest part of the room. It should be away from radiators, heaters and the fireplace. Keeping your tree away from heat will not only reduce the chance of fire, but help keep the tree from drying.

Give Tree Water

Your Christmas tree should be placed in the type of stand which has a water container in which the trunk rests. Fresh trees stay fresh by "drinking" a substantial amount of water. You will notice that the water disappears from the container quite rapidly, and you should refill it daily.

Choose only flameproof decorations for your tree. You should use only decorations made of glass, metal or a fire-resistant material.

Handle your Christmas lights with care. Light sets with frayed wires should be discarded. Make sure you get good lights when you buy a new set.

Remember: If possible, the switch controlling the tree lights should be some distance from the tree. This will reduce the chance of a spark from the electric switch igniting the tree decorations. Avoid attaching the lights to a baseboard plug behind the tree.

Electric Train Sparks

In homes where an electric train is part of Christmas play, tracks should be set up away from the tree. Toy trains sometimes throw off sparks, and sparks are a fire hazard.

Someone should be assigned the task of making sure lights on the Christmas tree are turned off at bedtime and when no one is near the tree.

Trees should be checked frequently for dryness. Also check tree needles near lights. If needles near a light have become dry and brittle, change the position of the light. If needles all over the tree start falling, take the tree down at once and put it outdoors.

Metal trees should never be decked with Christmas lights. The National Board of Fire Underwriters says that use of off-the-tree lighting gives a safer and more attractive illumination.

Always pick up gift wrappings immediately when Christmas presents are opened. The wrappings you plan to save should be folded and put away. Other paper, boxes, and ribbon should be gathered up and placed in a metal waste container.

Some people like to keep their trees throughout the holiday season. Even if the tree appears to be fresh, however, take it down before it dries out.

Merry Christmas!

Leaders Discuss Asian Troubles

PARIS (AP)—Foreign ministers of the Western Big Three examined Saturday the turbulent situation in Southeast Asia, particularly in the former French colonies of Indochina.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, British Foreign Secretary Richard A. Butler and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville were studying developments in Cambodia, South Viet Nam and Laos in an effort to coordinate Western policy in that area.

Other factors in the picture are Communist North Viet Nam, diplomatic and occasional guerrilla skirmishes between the new federation of Malaysia and Indonesia, and events in Burma and neighboring Thailand.

Belgian Official To Get NATO Post

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The oil state of Kuwait has named Yacoub Shammas its first ambassador to Moscow. The Soviet Union sent an ambassador to Kuwait three months ago.

7 Left Homeless by Fire Near Appleton

Flash Blaze Sweeps Apartment Dwelling; 2 Tots Evacuated

Seven persons, including two young children, were left homeless when a flash fire early Sunday morning swept through a four-apartment dwelling a mile south of Appleton along U.S. 10. The two tots, aged one and two, were evacuated from the smoke filled one-story frame structure moments before the apartment they and their mother, Mrs. Sharon Tolly, occupied was filled with flames.

The building's owner, Mrs. Anne Melchior, route 2, Menasha, said she slipped on a coat and slippers when she awakened and saw smoke pouring through the building. She dashed into the Tolly apartment, grabbed one of the children while the mother took the other, and ran for safety.

A neighbor, Francis Jost, was the first to notice the fire. He awakened Gary G. Delaware, occupant of the apartment in which the blaze is believed to have started.

Spread Alarm

Grant and Jost spread the alarm among the other occupants and called the Harrison Fire Department from Mrs. Melchior's apartment. Firemen were called about 6:30 a.m. according to Gordon Vande Hey, chief of Harrison Co. No. 2, which is stationed at Lake Park. The township's other unit, stationed at Sherwood, assisted with water. Firemen remained at the scene until 1:30 p.m., Vande Hey said.

Vande Hey said he believed the fire started from a space heater in the Delaware apartment. The entire roof was ablaze when firemen arrived.

Estimate Losses

The building's occupants were able to save only a few appliances. The structure, adjudged a total loss by Vande Hey, was insured for $14,000.

Vande Hey estimated losses, including the personal belongings of Delaware, Mrs. Melchior, Mrs. Tolly and Mrs. Eileen Butzloff, at $28,000 to $30,000.

Elsewhere in the state, 65 guests at the Hotel Pfister, Milwaukee, fled their rooms Sunday when fire broke out in the ground floor coffee shop. Authorities said the blaze started in a grease duct and caused $7,000 damage.

A blaze in Jim Falls, Chippewa County, destroyed the telephone office. Firemen battled the fire for six hours. Cause of the fire and an estimate of damage were not determined immediately.

Appleton Asked to Reconsider Church's Water Hookup Request

The Appleton Common Council has been requested to reconsider its action of denying a Town of Menasha church a city water main hookup.

Gaylord C. Loehning, a Neenah attorney, has sent a letter to the council on behalf of Our Redeemer Evangelical Lutheran Church.

"For and behalf of the congregation may I respectfully request a reconsideration of this application and request an opportunity for the congregation to be heard in reference to this matter," Loehning wrote.

Two council committees and the board of public works are working for the program, met at the board of public works are opposed to selling water outside the city limits. Aldermen have been consistent in their policy of denying such requests so as to encourage location in the City of Appleton — not surrounding townships.

Appleton Expected to Seek Federal Planning Assistance

City Would be Reimbursed for Up to Two-Thirds of Expenses

It is expected formal application will be made by the City of Appleton this week for a federal 701 grant to prepare a comprehensive plan for the entire city.

The plan commission, which has done considerable spadework for the program, met at the city hall this morning and adopted a resolution asking the common council to apply for the federal grant.

The Wisconsin Resource Development Department, Madison, would serve as the city's agent in dealing with the federal government on the $102,120 project.

Should Appleton get a grant, it would make the city eligible for aids amounting to two-thirds of the cost of the over-all project which is expected to take from 18 to 24 months to complete.

Receive Credit City Planner Walter Rasmussen said as a result of conferences with state officials, the city will receive $7,550 credit for planning work already completed.

As a result, the city's share of the total cost of the comprehensive plan (CP) will be $28,360, the payments to be spread out over a two-year period.

Optimism prevails that Appleton will receive approval of its grant request. The city, working with the state, has already agreed on a St. Louis consultant to prepare the CP. Park Board that plans for a Should federal officials okay marina at Lutz Park be included in Appleton's grant, work on the plan could start about April 1, for the city.

Several other Wisconsin cities have obtained 701 grants or are in the process of applying for them.

Deliberate Rezoning Walter Johnson, head of the planning division for the redevelopment department, has indicated Appleton has a mine in what areas there may be overlapping of planning.

In other action, the commission: —Decided to take more time to deliberate a rezoning request, from multiple family to single residential district, property between Bellin Park and Riverside Cemetery.

—Withheld action on rezoning its grant request. The city, property at 813 E. John St. —Referred to the city planning commission a request from the Appleton Park Board that plans for a Should federal officials okay marina at Lutz Park be included in Appleton's grant, work on the plan could start about April 1, for the city.

—Approved the hiring of a clerk-stenographer for the planning department. —Set Jan. 16 at 3 p.m. as the time for a meeting between the commission, park board and representatives of the department of public works to determine what areas there may be overlapping of planning.

The trades and industry coordinator will inspect all departments monthly to determine that these policies are being followed.

The commission allocated five dollars for the purchase of eye protection equipment for the 19th Ward supervisor.

AVS Program To Prevent Eye Injury

Student, Teachers Must Use Safeguards When Hazards Exist

An official eye protection policy and program has been adopted at the Appleton Vocational and Adult School.

The policy states a general rule that all students and teachers are to wear eye protection whenever there is a hazard, and lists specific regulations for the printing, machine shop, wood-working, auto body shop, auto mechanics, electric laboratory and welding departments.

The program is in force and has been working well, AVS Director Carl Bertram said. There has never been a serious eye accident in the 36 years he has been at the school, he added.

Students buy their own eye protection equipment, which includes goggles with tempered glass lenses or a shield to fit over corrective glasses and a face shield for specific hazards.

Students will not be permitted to do any work considered hazardous unless they own and use suitable eye protection. Those who do not have suitable eye protection within seven school days will be subject to dismissal.

Two Fox Cities Stations, WAPL, WNAM, Requesting Permits To Operate on Same Frequencies

BY MARK OLIVA
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A contest began brewing today between two Fox Cities radio stations both seeking construction permits for the same FM channel.

John J. Dixon, owner and operator of WAPL, 1570, Appleton, said today his station applied Dec. 13 for a permit to build an FM radio station on channel 229, 105.7 mc., with an effective radiated power of 50,000 watts.

Channel 229 has been allocated for a class B high power FM station in the Twin Cities by the Federal Communications Commission.

Nov. 1, WNAM Inc., Neenah, withdrew an earlier application for another channel and applied for a construction permit for channel 229, according to Don Wirth, WNAM station manager. WNAM Inc. also owns and operates WNAM-AM, 1230, Neenah.

WNAM filed an application with the FCC Oct. 13 for a construction permit for an FM station on channel 230, 93.9 mc., with an effective radiated power of 36,340 watts. Channel 230 also had been allocated by the FCC for the Twin Cities.

Channel Change Wirth said the firm was advised by the FCC that Neenah was too near Chicago, where another station, WEBB-FM, operates on the same channel. He said the advisory forced the change in his application Nov. 1. The application requests the same power assignment.

After an extended licensing "freeze," the FCC released allocations of FM channels for areas throughout the nation last December. In June, the commission lifted the "freeze" and began receiving license applications again.

The commission allocated five dollars for the purchase of eye protection equipment for the 19th Ward supervisor.

Harold F. Haak, 1625 N. Elgin St., today took out papers for the 19th Ward supervisor in the state retirement system.

City Workers Get Final '64 Contract Offer

Merit Raises, Fringe Benefits In Appleton Pact

Teamsters Local 563 — bargaining representative for an estimated 160 employees in the Appleton Department of Public Works — has received the city's final 1964 contract offer.

The common council's personnel committee, the city's official bargaining agent, did not include a general wage increase requested by the union employees.

Bargaining sessions between the committee, headed by Ald. E. V. Krueger (11th), and Robert Schlieve, business representative for the union, have been held periodically in recent weeks.

Krueger said Schlieve was given the city's final offer over the weekend.

Prospects Dim

While prospects for an across-the-board raise for all city employees appear dim, Krueger did say some merit raises would be granted workers in various municipal departments.

In its offer, the city agreed to: Grant workers two hours premium pay, plus regular pay, for call-in time requested by the union.

Allow a half day paid holiday when the regular work day falls on Dec. 24.

Grant four weeks vacation after 25 years of employment. For each year after the twentieth year, the employee will add one extra day of vacation until reaching the 25-year mark.

Increase the city's share of the group hospital and surgical cost payment to 60 per cent, representing a 10 per cent hike.

"Fair and Adequate" Krueger said it was the general feeling of the committee that wages now being paid city employees are "fair and adequate and any increases at this time would not be justified."

He emphasized, however, that many employees would be granted merit increases.

Krueger said the committee had surveys covering 27 businesses and industries in this area, which he said indicated municipal employees are receiving a fair wage when a comparison is made.

It is expected the union's reply will come by mid-week, if not sooner.

'Top Volume'

Merchants Say Christmas Buying Booms in Last Week of Shopping

Appleton Merchants today reported they are "scared" to use the ported Christmas buying as city's new East Ramp the first booming as the holiday season time.

"After they use it once and find out just how good it is, store operators reported "top they won't park anywhere else." volume." Most listed three major reasons for the excellent season.

One of the reasons was that Appleton is experiencing its first cold weather of the season. Businessmen agree Christmas of shoppers are in a better buying mood when the weather is cold.

Another reason is the short season this year. The Christmas shopping season is generally considered to be from Thanksgiving to Christmas.

Buying Concentrated This year, that period was only slightly more than three weeks. As a result, buying normally spread over a longer period is being concentrated.

The third factor, which some businessmen believe to be the most important, was parking facilities in Appleton.

However, one department store manager said some shop-gloves and socks were being sold along with blouses, more gloves, scarves and jewelry.

An occasional shy male was seen to creep up to the "unmentionables" counter to blushing buy a bit of filmy something for the lady in his life.

Businessmen said their heaviest trade is coming in the evenings, with relatively few shoppers taking advantage of the light shopping earlier in the day to do their buying at a leisurely pace.

In spite of the heavy buying, however, there was one factor which weighed upon the minds of nearly all the store operators. They are fearful that on the 13th day of Christmas, somebody's true love is going to return 144 Drummers Drumming, 132 Pipers Piping, 120 Lords Leaping, 108 Ladies Dancing, 96 Maids A-Milking, 84 Swans A-Swimming, 72 Geese A-Laying, 60 Golden Rings, 48 Colly Birds, 36 French Hens, 24 Turtle Doves and 12 Partridges in Pear Trees—for a pair of pajamas that fits.

Sinatra Jr. Plans Return to Work

BY JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Frank Sinatra Jr. made plans today to sing again while federal authorities prepared to take three men to court as his alleged kidnapers.
Friends said young Sinatra was anxious to return to work at Lake Tahoe.
A spokesman for Harrah's Casino, where the 19-year-old entertainer was employed at the time of his abduction Dec. 8, confirmed that a new motel room was being prepared for him.
Return Tuesday
Pat France vice president of Harrah's said, however, that Sinatra Jr. definitely wouldn't resume singing before Tuesday night. He is featured with the Tommy Dorsey Band, which takes Monday nights off.
Tino Barzile, the youth's manager, told newsmen:
"We're moving him to another room in the motel right now. It'll be harder for anybody to get to him in the new room."
Frank Jr. spent the weekend at the Los Angeles home of his mother.

More Progress
The FBI, meantime, reported further progress in its efforts to account for all of the $240,000 that Sinatra Sr. paid for the release of his son.
With all but about $6,000 of the ransom recovered, a spokesman said:
"Additional funds have been located and steps are being taken to place them in federal custody."
Some time later this month a federal grand jury is expected to be asked for indictments against the trio of accused kidnapers — John W. Irwin, 42, a house painter; Joseph C. Amsler, 23, an abalone diver and part-time professional boxer, and Barry W. Keenan, also 23, an unemployed appliance salesman.

Friends Surprised
Friends of the two younger men expressed shock and surprise at their alleged involvement in the case.
Keenan's father, stockbroker John J. Keenan, described his son as "a fine kid" and said that like most boys, he was interested in cars. He recalled that except for one minor brush with the law the theft of a case of beer in 1959—he'd never been in serious trouble.
Amsler's police record was a short one. He had three arrests in California, the latest for trespassing and an earlier one for violation of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act.
Irwin had a record extending over 16 years in Maine, Massachusetts, New Jersey and California. The charges included disorderly conduct, assault and battery, desertion, nonsupport and drunkenness.

Wife Bitter
Keenan's 20-year-old ex-wife Donna, who obtained an interlocutory divorce decree Nov. 12, told a reporter:
"I think this Irwin is the brains behind the whole thing. He got two boys who were down and out and took advantage of them."
Mrs. Keenan said she hoped to see her former husband "as soon as they'll let me." She wrote him a note, saying:
"Barry, I'm praying for you. I will see you as soon as possible. As always, Donna."
Oddly, a classmate of Keenan and Amsler at University High in West Los Angeles was Nancy Sinatra, sister of the kidnaped boy. But there are conflicting reports on whether she was well acquainted with either of the accused men.

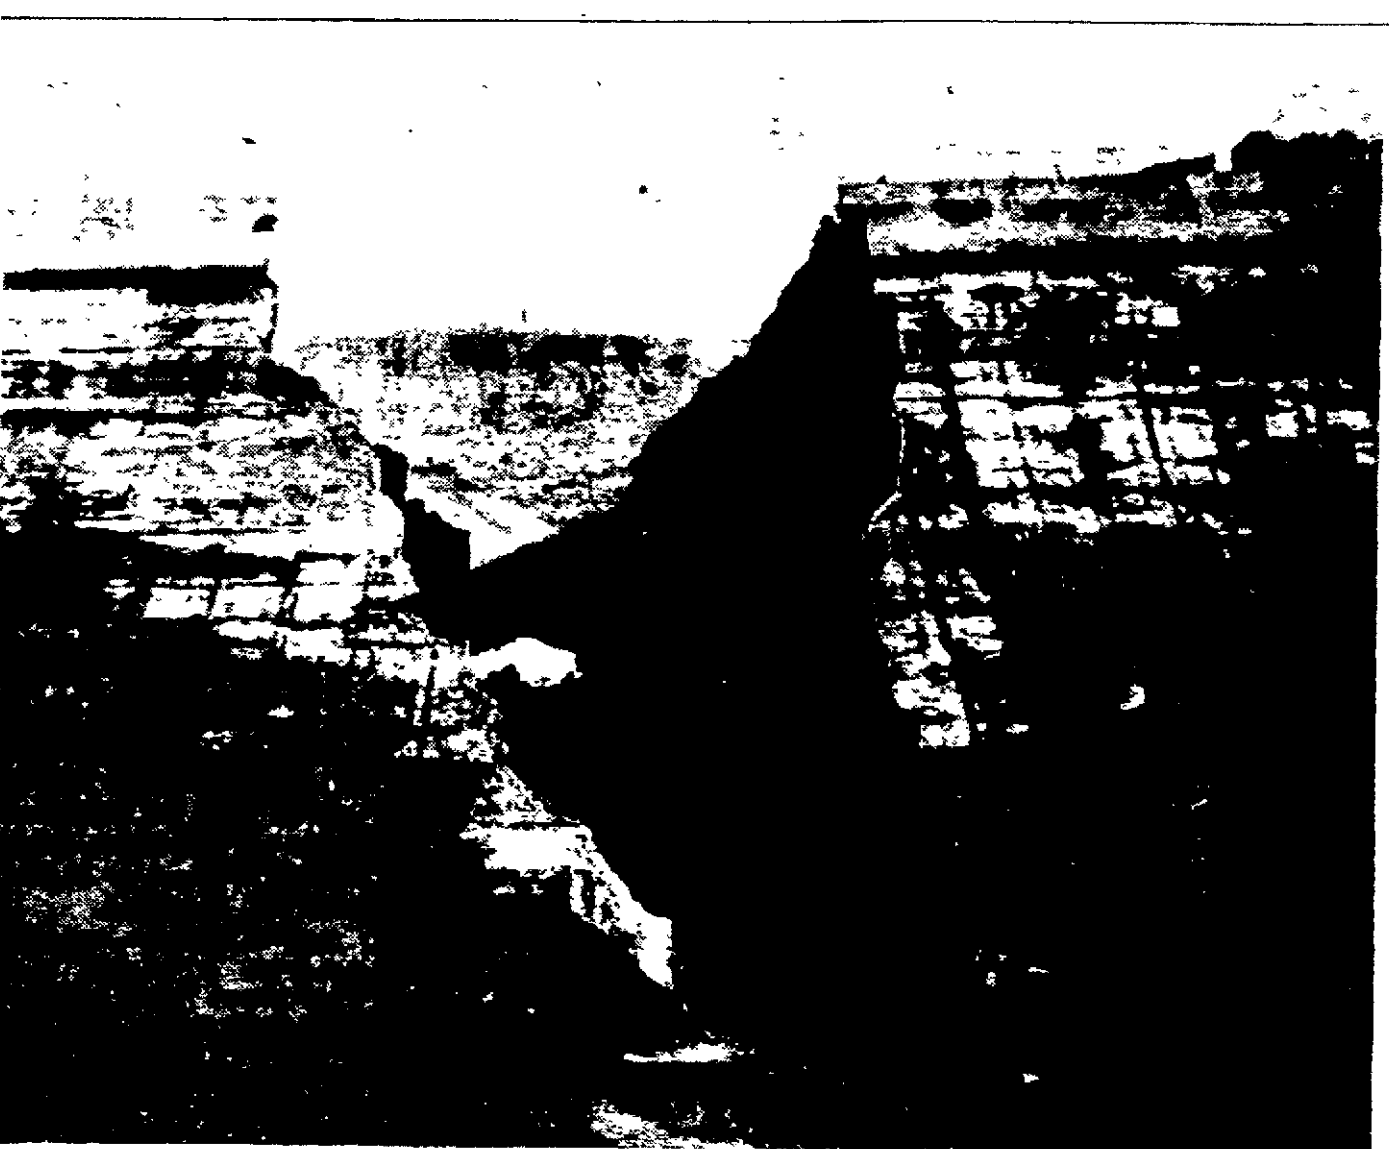

Show Routine
Sinatra Sr., meanwhile, was gradually getting back into the show business routine.
He showed up unexpectedly

Governor Calls Defeat of Roads Bill a Tragedy

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds has described defeat of his accelerated highway building program by Republicans controlling the Legislature as "a tragedy for the unemployed."
Speaking at the Christmas Party of United Auto Workers Local 248 Saturday, Reynolds said the Legislature "has chosen to turn its back on our men who want jobs."
"Without highways," Reynolds said, "industry cannot grow. Without industrial growth, we are not going to be able to provide the new jobs needed to cope with the pressures of automation and an increasing labor supply."

Boone Gets Upperhand Over Davy Crockett

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Daniel Boone ordered Davy Crockett jailed.
Mrs. Crockett swore out a warrant Sunday night against her husband, David Tidwell Crockett, 52, of Nashville, charging him with drunkenness.
Judge Daniel Boone of General Sessions Court refused Saturday night in Las Vegas, Nev., for the 11th anniversary party of the Sands Hotel.
Joining other entertainers on stage, he made no public mention of the kidnaping and ransom of his son. But later, in the lounge, he had high praise for the FBI.
"I am happy," he said, "that the FBI did such a magnificent job in capturing the three men, because I know it will act as a deterrent to other punks who want to try something like this."
He described the week as one "I never want to live through again," but also said he was happy at the outcome.

City Assessor Resigns From Neenah Post

Carlton Williams Cites Reasons as 'Of Personal Nature'

NEENAH — Carlton F. Williams, 34, announced his resignation as Neenah's city assessor and building inspector today in a letter to Mayor Carl E. Loehning and the Neenah Common Council.

The resignation, accepted with regret by Loehning, will become effective March 1, 1964. Williams, who has been employed by Neenah for over 13 years cited personal reasons for his resignation.

"We're losing a very good man who has worked hard for the citizenry of Neenah," Loehning said upon receiving the resignation notice.

"Carl always had time to spend with property owners who had questions to ask. He was very fair in his assessments," Loehning lauded Williams for his work during Neenah's reassessment in 1961, especially noting the many hours he spent in his office during the change.

Williams came to Neenah in March of 1950 as assistant assessor, and was appointed assessor and building inspector in September, 1955.

Previously he was employed in 1949 by Menasha in reassessment work, and by the state department of taxation for several months during 1949-50.

During the last 15 years Williams has attended numerous technical schools on real estate appraising. He has his Society of Real Estate Appraisers (SRA) certificate and is an accredited instructor in real estate appraising.

Appraiser Currently, secretary, the Fox Valley Chapter of the SRA, Williams is also past president of the same group and a senior residential appraiser of S.T.A.

Today he was appointed to the reviewing sub-committee of the International SRA admissions committee for 1964.

A graduate of Menasha High School in 1947, Williams served in the U.S. Army as an instructor in a clerical and stenographic school in the U.S. Army from 1947-48, in Honolulu, Hawaii.

He is married to the former Nancy Kraus.

According to a Neenah ordinance governing the selection of Williams' successor, a committee of three will review applicants for the position and make their recommendation to the Mayor who in turn will appoint

Shares Up in Ragged Trade

Many Issues Rise But Irregularity Noted Elsewhere

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market struggled to maintain a ragged advance early this afternoon. Trading was moderate. Numerous key issues pushed ahead a point or so and more of the major sections were mostly higher. But the over-all tone was muddled as it was most of last week.

Year-end cross currents, involving tax-loss selling, reinvestment demand and profit-taking confused the picture.

Du Pont was off nearly 4 points, providing a heavy drag on the market averages.

On the other hand, some blue chips picked up ground. Standard Oil (New Jersey) was ahead 1 at a new high; RCA gained more than 1, Jones and Laughlin was up 1, American Smelting gained 1 and Union Carbide added more than a point.

Some of the wider-moving issues such as Control Data, IBM and Xerox were higher by 2 to 4 points.

At noon, the Dow Jones industrial average was off .09 at 760.08.

U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic each gained a little on reports that first-quarter shipments would exceed 1963.

GM, Ford and Chrysler added small fractions while American Motors dipped a little and Studebaker was unchanged.

The rails, last week's leaders and now at their highest level since 1956, showed scant change.

Sunray DX Oil gained over 1 and Allied Chemical was up a fraction.

At noon, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .7 at 285.1.

day program. The Board of Vocational and Adult Education asked Bertram to study the matter further and report again at the January meeting.

Prospective Employers Bertram told the board that transferring class information to permanent records for the more than 3,000 persons attending adult classes each year takes didn't care whether or not permanent records were kept, but some business education students wanted the records, he said.

The present record system for adults will not lend itself to the planned conversion to the data processing system, he noted.

Class Roll Books Bertram said the school would keep roll books from adult classes. If the proposed system of having students responsible for keeping their own records proved a mistake, this information could be transferred to permanent records, he said.

The board approved the evening school calendar for the 1964-1965 school year, but postponed a decision until the January meeting on the proposed day school calendar. This proposal would add two days of classes to the school year.

New Mormon Green Bay Unit Started

A new Green Bay branch of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints was established at a special area conference in Appleton Sunday.

Max Ririe was named presiding elder of the new branch.

Establishment of the Green Bay branch necessitated several changes in the Appleton branch, because John Botts of Green Bay has been first counselor to the Appleton presidency. Buryl McClurg was installed as first counselor and Glen O Reed Jr. as second counselor to Charles L. Soukup, president of the Appleton branch.

E. A. Nadel of Chicago, president of the Northern States Mission, presided at the conference. Others attending were president Clyde Hoffman of Gresham and Aubrey Stehr of Shawano, first and second counselors respectively to the Northern Wisconsin district president.

The Relief Society served a noon luncheon. At a meeting following the luncheon, future plans for the Appleton branch were outlined.

To Your Good Health Emotional Change of Life Seen in Males

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there an emotional or personality change if not a physical one in men of middle age?

If you mean a "change of life," or climacteric, comparable to the menopause in women, my answer is that it can occur.

True, in some men there is a decline in glandular activity similar to that in women. But it does not happen as regularly or predictably as in women, and certainly not as often as some men seem to think. There isn't an approximate age at which a physical change occurs, as is the case when the ovaries cease functioning in women, bringing a physical readjustment and some degree of emotional impact as a result.

However, a psychological (and hence emotional) change can occur in women, bringing a physical condition.

Some psychiatrists have noted, and any number of other physicians have observed that in middle age the average man is subjected to a lot of pressures. How he reacts to them depends on his philosophical outlook as well as a lot of other factors.

It's a time when men may do a lot of worrying — concern over business, health, family, job security. There may be bills of all kinds — for the children in college, a new house, the country club, etc.

In the first part of life, a man keeps looking ahead; he'll be promoted, get raises, doesn't worry too much about tomorrow. He buys a house on a small down payment, and the furnishing on time.

But somewhere along in middle age or later, he realizes that he may be coming to his peak earnings, that his expenses have risen, that the rest of the mortgage has to be paid off, and he begins to wonder what income he will have when it is time to retire.

He wonders what would happen if he became seriously ill. There often is a nagging worry over waning sexual powers — and the worry itself often is the principal cause.

It depends on how many emotional impacts strike a man, how strong he is in meeting them and how much faith he has.

There can be domestic frustrations. And alcohol — don't forget that! The gradual habit of a few extra martinis can take a toll in physical and nervous energy.

An overload of worry can have its recoil in the form of personality changes. So don't go too far afield looking for causes which so often are right under our noses.

End Schizophrenia

Dear Dr. Molner: Can one get over schizophrenia without help? What effect does alcohol have on it?

F.E.T.

Schizophrenia is the commonest of all mental illnesses, and also about as hard as any of them to treat. A schizophrenic needs all the psychiatric help he can get. Alcohol, of course, is harmful.

See Doctor

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband wants me to see a doctor but I don't want to. We decided to get your opinion.

Every other month my menstrual period is extremely painful. What could cause this and what should I do?

MRS L. K.

It's usually the other way around — a wife trying to get her husband to go to the doctor. Your trouble probably involves one ovary but not the other. and it may be nothing serious. One possibility might be a condition known as "mittelschmerz," or "middle-pain," but why guess? Consult a gynecologist.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of handling.

Because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets that he cannot answer individual letters, but whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column. (Copyright 1963)

State Lawmakers Split On Education Report

Thomson and Byrnes Express Reactions to Vocational Training Conference Measure

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Members of the Wisconsin House delegation last week split six to two, with two absences on the $1.6 billion vocational training conference report, which was approved 300 to 65.

Attempts made by Republicans to send the bill back to its conferees with instructions to eliminate two provisions in the measure failed on a margin of 12 votes. The objectionable provisions included authorization for residential national training schools, and a "work-study" provision which allegedly would pay potential high school "drop-outs" up to $350 a year and permit them to work and attend school at the same time.

Voting for final passage of the conference report were Reps. Robert W. Kastenmeier, Vernon W. Thomson, Clement J. Zablocki, Henry S. Reuss, Lester R. Johnson and Alvin E. O'Konski.

Against the measure were Reps. Henry C. Schadeberg and John W. Byrnes. Absent were Reps. William K. Van Pelt and Melvin R. Laird.

Laird had gone to Stevens Point to set up interviews and a workshop for small colleges in the state on obtaining government scientific research grants.

the state's vocational educational schools.

"I believe vocational education is a better approach to solving unemployment than most methods," Thomson said. "I am also hopeful that when the conference report comes to the appropriations committee for actual funding, some of its objectionable features can be trimmed down, or left out entirely."

Byrnes' Reaction

Congressman Byrnes, however, said that he could not "stomach" the conference report, containing the two "new and dangerous and uncalled for programs."

"I voted for the original House bill on vocational education because I am a firm believer in it," Byrnes declared. "But the conference report contained those two provisions on which the House had held no hearings which even supporters of the measure seemed not to understand."

He added he also was "much upset" over the continuance of the same kind of federal aid to "impacted areas." This means granting of federal money to school systems which are "impacted" by students who are children of employees of the federal government, particularly those living near military bases.

The Green Bay congressman objected to the "impacted areas" provision because, he said, the House does not review or revise on a yearly basis the need for the financial aid extended by the Government.

"We are told that if we did not vote for the conference report, there would be no vocational education bill at all," Byrnes said. "That is political blackmail, and I refuse to be blackmailed."

Proxmire Says Johnson Should Fire John Kelly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., says that President Johnson should fire John M. Kelly as the government's "top policymaker" on oil and gas "because of his close identification with the oil industry."

Proxmire also said Saturday the new President was "morally right" in delegating final authority over the oil industry to the Interior Department, headed by Secretary Stewart L. Udall.

The senator said he had opposed Kelly's appointment in the department because he was an oil producer and "still has vast oil interests."

"His appointment obviously represented a direct and flagrant conflict of interest," Proxmire said.

The senator also said he had opposed the appointment of Jerome J. O'Brien of Midland, Texas, as head of the interior department's office of oil and gas. O'Brien was a vice president of the giant Humble Oil and Refining Co. before taking the post.

Searchers Find 2 Frozen Bodies

The frozen bodies of two men were found in separate Wisconsin areas Sunday as the thermometer hovered near the zero mark.

A search party found the body of Walter Johnson, 65, of rural Edmund, in a field about 1,500 feet from his Iowa County farm home. Authorities said Johnson, apparently suffered a heart attack after he went into the field to cut wood.

The body of Juan Gonzales, 39, was found between two houses about six blocks from his boys.

Gov. Reynolds Calls Special Elections to Fill Assembly Seats

MADISON (AP)— Gov. John W. Reynolds said today he will call special elections April 7 in Grant and Green counties to fill seats vacated by the deaths of Republican assemblymen.

Hugh Harper, who had represented Grant County in the Assembly for more than 20 years, died Aug. 8. Christ M. Stauffer died Oct. 15 while serving his fourth term as Green County assemblyman.

On another subject, the governor said he had read published criticisms of the special legislative session he called last week. The session concluded after lawmakers killed the governor's accelerated highway construction program and decided to put the issue to a public referendum April 7.

Reynolds was criticized for poor timing in recalling the Legislature so close to the holidays.

WNAM-AM began broadcasting under the ownership of Neenah-Menasha Broadcasting, Inc., in 1947. In 1949, the station added WNAM-FM, then at 98.5 mc. WNAM-FM left the air in 1953.

In 1954, WNAM joined the television field on UHF channel 42. That station left the air in 1955, prior to the time Neenah-Menasha Broadcasting formed a subsidiary firm, Valley Telecasting Co., which built, owned and operated WFRV-TV in Green Bay.

Valley Telecasting later was sold to WAVE, Nashville, Tenn., and WNAM now has no holdings in the station. Neenah-Menasha Broadcasting sold WNAM-AM to WNAM Inc. this summer, and the transfer of ownership takes place Jan. 1.

Valley FM WAPL-AM went on the air in 1952 as a member of the Barlett chain, which also operates WOKY Radio in Milwaukee and

In 1958, Bartell sold the station to Connie Forster, Appleton, and a group of Appleton investors, and Dixon purchased the station July, 1950.

No Obligations to Consulting Firm

Appleton Works Board Clears Obligation to Chicago Company

Legally, no further obligations exist between Appleton and the consulting firm of Alvord, Burdick and Howsen.

A representative of the Chicago-based firm indicated this today in a letter to City Attorney Frederick Froehlich and the common council.

The firm prepared a preliminary water report do the Appleton Water Department for $3,000 a year ago, and said Lake Michigan was the most logical source for a long-range supply.

Since then the board of public works has entered the picture and has indicated to the water commission it intends to hire a consultant to direct Appleton's proposed utility expansion.

Interviews Scheduled
The board says it will interview several consulting firms in the near future, including Alvord, Burdick and Howsen, which has been the water department's consultant for more than a quarter of a century.

A. W. Ponath, Outagamie County corporation counsel, will speak to the Northside Kiwanis Club Tuesday.

Gordon Bubolz, chairman of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission, discussed the commission at the meeting of the Noon Optimist Club to-day.

John Torinus, editor of the Appleton Post-Crescent, spoke at the Common Market to the Appleton Lions Club today. He toured the Common Market countries last summer.

Eugene Upton, field representative with the Social Security Administration, will speak on "Social Security and You" to the Breakfast Optimist Club Tuesday.

He will be at a luncheon for about 60 presidents, deans and department heads at a one-day higher education workshop.

It was cited that several times in the two years following submission of the report, additional information was supplied Appleton officials, and representatives of the firm made several trips to Appleton for consultation purposes.

We have considered our obligations as both legal and moral," the representative said.

He pointed out the preliminary report was satisfactory to the Appleton Water Board.

It was emphasized that the question of having a further engineering study made on the proposed water expansion came about several months after the Chicago firm submitted its report, and involved a municipal organizational setup of which the firm had no knowledge.

It was the firm's apparent belief that the Appleton water utility would be the appropriate body to deal with. However, the board of public works has now assumed jurisdiction.

The spokesman indicated his firm was willing to cooperate with any municipal body and that "on moral and ethical grounds" it had a right to expect it would be given an opportunity to be engineer for the proposed multi-million dollar expansion program.

However, before proceeding with the interviews, the board wanted to make sure it was under no further obligation to the Chicago firm. This has been confirmed in the letter.

However, the representative of Alvord, Burdick and Howsen said the firm went beyond the call of duty in preparing the preliminary report and sending representatives here to appear before groups.

The spokesman said originally his firm was asked to explore the possibility of Appleton going to Lake Winnebago for water, but it took all sources into consideration and came up with Lake Michigan. The report could be carried out by Appleton "going it alone", or with other communities in the area.

It was cited that several times in the two years following submission of the report, additional

'Vandy' Leads Vikings to 34-13 Victory

Former Badger QB Makes First Pro Start Against Eagles

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Former Wisconsin star Ron VanderKelen added to his history of doing things in the grand manner as he made his first start quarterback Sunday and directed the Minnesota Vikings to a 34-13 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

Minnesota ended its third season in the league with a 5-8-1 record, good for a tie with Detroit for fourth in the Western Division. The Eagles were last in the Eastern Conference with a 2-10-2 slate.

VanderKelen earned his starting chance two weeks ago by coming off the bench when starter Fran Tarkenton was injured and guiding the Vikings.

Victory Took 'Quite A Few Years Off My Age' Says Papa Bear

Calls Game One Of Greatest Experiences in Career

BY CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—George Halas is giving everyone a great run for the money this season—even Father Time.

He is a frisky 66, and if he has any thoughts of retiring he is keeping them to himself.

There is some talk of this, especially if his Chicago Bears defeat the New York Giants here Dec. 29 for the National Football League championship.

But Papa Bear is a vigorous, healthy man whose pacing on the sidelines shows no sign of slowing down.

After his Bears defeated the Detroit Lions 24-14 Sunday to clinch their first Western Division title since 1955, Halas said:

"Coming from behind to win with the chips down was one of the greatest experiences in my coaching career. I may be 66, but this victory has taken quite a few years off of my age."

Last week was a big one for Halas. He went over hundreds of feet of film with his staff to map strategy against the Lions, coached by one of his former star ends, George Wilson.

The NFL pioneer and Hall of Fame charter member was named NFL Coach of the Year by The Associated Press recently. Later in the week he was named Chicagoan of the Year by the Chicago Press Club.

In midweek he had the humorous experience of trying to run off practices next to a group of polo ponies. This came when heavy snow forced the Bears to seek room for workouts in the Chicago Avenue Armory.

Halas found the place occupied for practices by players in a polo league. He compromised, with poloist Pat Connors, who moved his men and the ponies to one end while the Bears took the other.

On Friday the 13th, Halas was among 313 members of the Anti-Superstition Society to pay $13.13 apiece to attend a meeting. They crossed under a ladder, paused while salt was spilled from a six-foot salt shaker, looked upon scores of mirrors painted to appear broken, and crossed the paths of 13 models costumed as black cats.

Hex Signs

Although all the hex signs were scoffed at, Papa Bear was superstitious enough to wear his usual old blue sweater under his coat during the game Sunday.

Halas, a founder of the NFL 44 years ago, has seen his Bears win seven world championships since 1921. The last was in 1946, when the Bears downed the Giant 24-14.

Sunday night he and his wife, Min, entertained at the annual Bears alumni party. Hundreds of his former players were on hand to pat Papa Bear on the back and whoop it up over winning the Western Division crown.

Bear feats of yesteryears were a dime a dozen. And when they got around to talking about records, Papa Bear could point to the book and say:

"I'm still in there, you know." In 1928, when Halas coached as opening day and has res as well as played, he scored quested Bob Willis, who recently a tumble in a game with the by resigned as Fox Cities general manager, to draw up a 124-24 yards for a touchdown game schedule. The season will No one ever has mastered a corollary Aug. 31 and will be

Bears and Giants Triumph, Duel Dec. 29 for NFL Title

Chicago's Rally Trips Lions, 24-14

BY JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Bears never seem to look good but somehow they get the job done.

That's the way it was Sunday when they wrapped up the Western Division title of the National Football League with a 24-14 victory over Detroit and a meeting with the New York Giants for the championship Dec. 29 in Chicago.

A crowd of 45,317, ignoring 15-degree weather, actually booed quarterback Bill Wade in the first half and early in the third quarter.

Packers Will Spend Holidays With Families Before Playoff Bowl

GREEN BAY (AP)—The NFL's Green Bay Packers have you deserve the title. It was just a matter of time before they would win it.

There were some of the Packers who didn't care to comment. They finished second in the Western and that included Lombardi.

Quarterback Bart Starr, who completed 17 of 27 passes for 293 yards and two touchdowns, said the Packers had been caught in an emotional letdown since their second defeat by the Bears.

"You could feel it in the practices and in the games," he said. "We were waiting for someone, somewhere to beat the Bears. They're a fine ball club but I just can't admit they're better than we are...and this isn't sour grapes."

Miami Next Stop

Somebody once said that going to the Playoff Bowl with Lombardi "would be like going to a funeral." But at least one Packer was looking forward to the trip, shouting from the back of the plane, "Pack your bags. Miami is the next stop."

The bowl game will not be completely without merit, as it matches two of the best full-backs in the league — The Packers' Jim Taylor and the Browns' Jim Brown. Taylor was the rushing and scoring champion a year ago and Brown took the ground gaining title again this year.

The Packers posted an 11-3 record in 1961 and were 13-1 in 1962. They won the championship both years by beating the New York Giants.

The Packers were 11-2-1 this season, finishing behind the Chicago Bears, with an 11-2 slate. A Detroit victory over the Bears Sunday would have given the Packers a fourth consecutive division title.

The Packers were flying home when they heard the Bears had won.

"We should have beaten the Bears ourselves," said defensive back Hank Gremminger as he recalled all too easily that both Packer defeats were administered by Chicago.

"You can't depend on someone else for help," he continued. "But it's hard to believe that we're not going to be in the title game after finishing with our record."

Beat Us Twice

Jim Ringo, Packer offensive captain and center said, "You can't take anything away from the Bears. They beat us twice and they deserved it."

End Max McGee said, "We had a heck of a record to finish second, but the Bears had too much going for them to lose today."

New York's Tittle Hurls 3 TD Passes

BY JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Allie Sherman fought his way through the mob surrounding Y. A. Tittle's locker in the mad, mad clubhouse of the New York Giants.

"You did as fine a job as any quarterback I have ever seen," said the Giants' coach, shaking the hand of the bald oldtimer who threw three record-breaking TD passes in the Giants' 33-17 victory over Pittsburgh in Sunday's winner-take-all game for the Eastern Conference title.

Tittle had help, especially from Frank Gifford and Joe Morrison and those men up front who kept the Steeler rush off his back most of the cold, windy afternoon.

Gifford has done a hell of a job since he was buried seven weeks ago," said Sherman. It had been suggested earlier in the season that the Giants were playing the 33-year-old flanker back out of sentiment for the old days. "There is no sentiment in this game," said Sherman. "Frank is a real pro all the way."

One-Handed Catch

Gifford made a truly sensational one-handed catch in the third period that was the turning point, if a 33-17 game has such a thing. The Steelers, trailing 16-3 at halftime, had closed to 16-10 and the Giants were on their own 23 on a third-and-eight situation. Gifford grabbed Tittle's pass with one hand for a 30-yard gain.

"All I was trying to do was bat the ball up in the air—and it stuck in my hand," Gifford said. "It was the biggest catch I ever made."

Sherman had praise for Morrison who scored three touchdowns, and everyone on the team. But he kept coming back to Tittle, who finished with a season record 36 touchdown passes.

"This year he did his greatest job," said Allie. "He had a rookie center (Greg Larson), a rookie guard (Bookie Bollin) and he never knew who would be in his backfield. It changed from game to game. He did a whale of a job."

"We went into the game with only six offensive plays but we changed the blocking as we went along. Our idea was to

Miami Quarterback Will Play in 2 Post-Season Tilts

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—George Spada, general manager of the 49ers, commented: "We are very pleased to have such a fine young man with our organization. He is not only a great athlete but a fine young man. Coach Gustafson's influence on him has been tremendous. Gus has done a tremendous job of coaching him."

Mira said he did not know when he would report but his next assignment will be in the College All-Star football game in the Orange Bowl Dec. 21 and he will play in the Senior Bowl at Mobile, Ala., Jan. 4. He will finish college in June.

The 49ers picked Mira as their second choice in the NFL draft and Denver picked him in the AFL draft.

Lou Spada of the 49ers and Lou Malavasi of the Denver Broncos of the American Football League negotiated with Mira after his spectacular passing performance in Miami's 17-12 loss to Alabama Saturday.

Spada and Mira did not discuss terms.

Cowboy QB Tosses 2 Late TD Passes

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Quarterback Don Meredith threw two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to lead the Dallas Cowboys to a 28-24 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in a chilly National Football League game.

The Cowboys went into the final quarter trailing 24-14 then Meredith hit Pettis Norman for 12 yards and a touchdown and Frank Clarke with 25 yard TD pass.

St. Louis tried to come back but Cornell Green of Dallas intercepted a pass with only a few seconds remaining.

The Cardinals scored first in the second half on a 35-yard run by Larry Wilson on a fake field goal attempt. Jim Bakken looted a field goal to give the Cards 24 points.

The loss left the Cardinals with a 9-5 record. The Cowboys 1-10.

Defensive end Bob Lilly scooped up the third Cardinal fumble of the first half and scampered 42 yards for the touchdown. Sam Baker converted to tie the score 14-14 with 13:30 remaining in the half.

Dallas tallied first in the game after a scoreless first period when quarterback Don Meredith ran one yard for the touchdown. Baker kicked the extra point.

Chicago Deals Nelson Matthews To Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Athletics, in another move to help their outfield, traded pitcher Fred Norman to the Chicago Cubs Sunday for outfielder Nelson Matthews and an undisclosed sum of cash.

Pat Friday, A's general manager, termed Matthews one of the outstanding young prospects in baseball. Friday said he would be given a full opportunity to win the centerfield job.

Matthews, 22, is 6-foot-4, 195 pounds and a right-handed batter. He batted 155 times in 61 games for the Cubs last year, with a .157 average, four homers and 10 runs batted in.

The 21-year-old Norman bats and throws left. He had a 13-14 record for Binghamton in the Eastern League last season, came to the A's near the end of the season and lost to the New York Yankees in his only decision.

Idea for 'Camelot'

Musical in Appleton Next Monday With Jeannie Carson, Biff McGuire Starring

"Camelot" was born on a hot August Sunday afternoon in 1958. Like most successful shows, the musical saw the light of day far from Broadway but captured the New York audiences from the moment it opened in the big city. After two highly successful Broadway seasons, "Camelot" took to the road with another successful run.

The hit musical appears in the Fox Cities next Monday night under the Variety Theatre banner as the major dramatic production of Appleton Gallery of Arts' current season. The ver-

McGuire as King Arthur, veteran Melville Cooper as bumbling King Pellinore and Sean Garrison as Lancelot. But lyricist Alan Jay Lerner wasn't even thinking of musicals or Broadway back in August, 1958. Neither was his musical partner, Frederick Loewe. They had just conquered Broadway and Hollywood with the smash musical, "My Fair Lady" and the Academy Award winning film, "Gigi."

Lerner was just relaxing in the country, reading the book review section of the New York Dressed for the London Embassy ball scene in the movie version of "My Fair Lady," stars Rex Harrison and Audrey Hepburn rest against leaning boards on a Hollywood set while they wait for their acting call. Harrison re-enacts his successful stage role of the professor in the film and Miss Hepburn plays the part of the transformed street waif, Eliza Doolittle, in the $17 million production. thought that somewhere, lurking among its countless pages, was a musical play for Fritz and me. "A few minutes later the phone rang. It was Moss Hart. He said he had just finished reading a review of a book called — you guessed it —

Start Working. "Two days later I finished reading the book and four days later Fritz and I began working on "Camelot."

"Camelot" was written in Palm Springs, Calif., New York and Paris. It took two years for the pair to finish the musical tribute to England's fabled King Arthur and his rambunctious knights.

In fact, as Lerner pointed out, no matter how the team rushed and no matter how late into how many nights they worked, it always took them two years to finish a major work.

He decided that the "lost" work, which was which theme should be picked from the enormous chronicle of the life of King Arthur.

On Dec. 3, 1960, Lerner and Loewe brought their fabled king to an appropriate destination. Broadway's Majestic Theatre. Co-producer and director was the late Moss Hart.

From that day on, "Camelot" became as much a part of history as the history it brought to the stage.

Costly Musical. The costliest musical ever "Camelot" had recouped its outlay of $676,000 by Oct. 11, 1961. It's tradition, she steals the founder's statue.

Now, with the aid of wife Nina Foch and friend Philip Abbott, he gets financial assistance from Barry Jones to continue experiments and cross over completely.

6:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5)—Meanwhile, the monsters roam on the other network when Monday Night at the Movies brings "The Lost World" into your living room. Michael Rennie, Jill St. John, Claude Rains and Fernando Lamas star in the adaptation of an Arthur Conan Doyle story. (Color)

Ceremonial Signing

Johnson Signs Bill For $2 Billion in Aid to Education

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson signed today legislation providing nearly $2 billion in federal aid to higher education over a 3-year period to help colleges and universities build classrooms, laboratories and other facilities.

Johnson used 60 pens in his first ceremonial signing. He called the legislation the "most significant education bill passed by the Congress in the history of the Republic."

A big delegation from Capitol Hill, educators and government officials watched the signing. Johnson said this and other legislation in the field of education would mark this Congress as one of the greatest in its history in providing the tools to fight illiteracy, poverty and disease.

The late President John F. Kennedy fought hard for aid to higher education, Johnson said and called the legislation a monument to him, as well as

19 Hostages Still in Hands Of Tin Miners

Explanation Sought Regarding Deal For Their Release

BY THOMAS J. STONE

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Communist-led tin miners continued to hold 19 hostages today, including four Americans, while awaiting an explanation of a deal for their release negotiated by leftist Vice President Juan Lechin.

It was hoped the hostages would be released sometime today after Lechin, head of the Miners' Union, explains the agreement at a general meeting in Catavi, the mining center 180 miles southeast of La Paz, where the hostages were held.

Agreement Assailed

Originally, the 19 were expected to be freed Sunday night, but some radio stations controlled by the miners criticized the agreement and accused the union leadership of capitulating to government pressure.

However, sources close to the miners believed Lechin, who arrived in Catavi Sunday night, would have no trouble convincing the rank and file to free the hostages.

The miners seized the hostages in Catavi Dec. 6 as pawns to bargain for the release of two Communist union leaders arrested by the government of President Victor Paz Estenssoro on a number of charges.

Trial in Catavi

In exchange for the release of the hostages, the government agreed to put the two union leaders — Irineo Pimental and

Christmas Story Of 'The Gospels' In Post-Crescent

The apostles' account of the Christmas story rarely hints at the turmoil and fears of the times in which they wrote.

Each writer — Matthew, Mark, Luke and John — told of the same events from different points of view, yet the form of what has come to be known as "The Gospels," has a distinctive oneness.

George W. Cornell, AP's religion writer, has thoroughly researched this fascinating subject for an illuminating series designed for reading the week before Christmas.

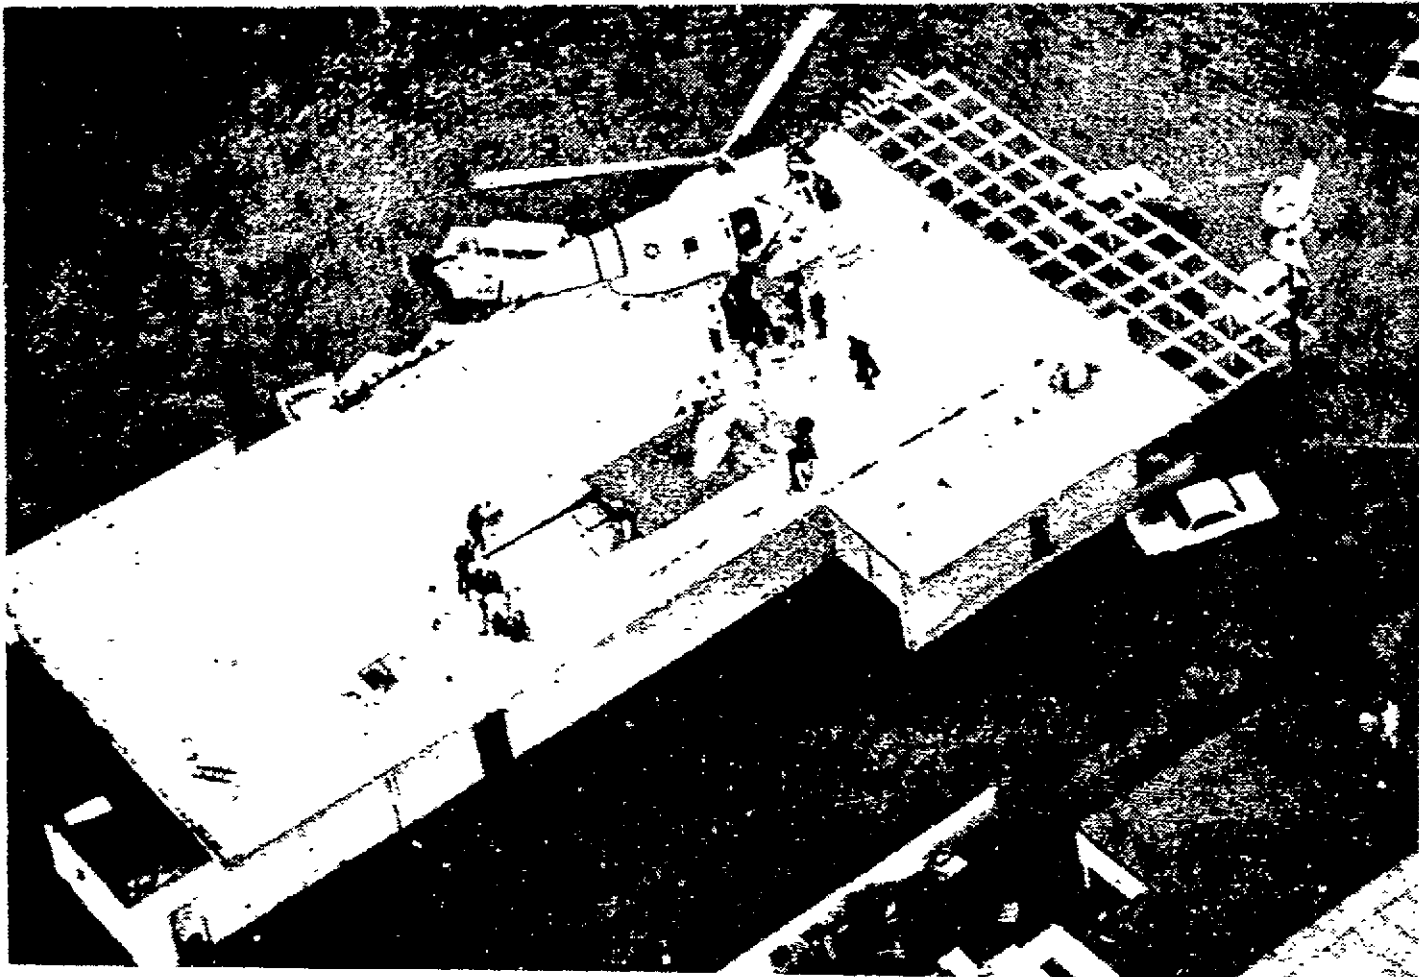

The stories of Matthew and John, the two apostles who knew Christ and included firsthand information in their accounts; of Luke, the gentle physician drawn into the movement by the apostle Paul; and of Mark, the rich scion of Jerusalem who got most of the material he wrote about Jesus from the apostle Peter.

NATO Assured U.S. Won't Cut Down Power in Europe

Probers Trying to Determine Cause Of Breach in Dam at Los Angeles

Damage Set at $10 Million Or More; at Least 3 Perish

BY ROBERT M. BURNETT

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Three hundred million gallons of water roared out of a gaping hole leaving three persons dead, at least $10 million damage—and one big unanswered question: Why?

Investigators tried to find the cause of Saturday's devastating flood today as cleanup crews and owners of ravaged homes moved in to clear the stricken area of tons of muck and debris.

For some, there was nothing to be done.

The giant wall of water from the breaking dam swept blocks of homes away. Only deep, eroded gullies remained where the attractive dwellings stood. Sixty-four homes were destroyed and 82 were severely damaged.

More fortunate residents picked among the ruins of their shattered homes, hoping to salvage items left behind when the order to evacuate disrupted the tranquil neighborhood.

Disaster Shakes Earth

The big 19.5-acre reservoir, owned by the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power, burst with a mighty roar Saturday afternoon after a small leak developed earlier in the structure of college classrooms, laboratories and libraries, and chunks of earth from the dam collapsed into the hole created by the rushing waters.

The flood smashed through an expensive canyon residence, hit a garden court gift apartment development, spread through two business districts and another residential neighborhood, then piled into a flood control channel and poured into the ocean about five miles away.

Thick Layer of Mud

Up to 10 inches of thick mud covered everything in the path of the water.

The many-faceted investigation starting today will attempt to answer: Mayor Samuel Yorty, who wants to know why the dam broke.

Thousands of flood victims, who want to know who will pay for the damage.

Thousands of other residents, living below similar reservoirs, and wondering...

Needy Family Given $1,100 And Clothing

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Clutching eight suitcases of clothes, more than $1,100 and a hope for the future, Marion McKnight and members of his family left Milwaukee Sunday after being stranded desolate only hours before.

Scores of Milwaukeeans responded with money, clothes, food and toys after reading newspaper stories of McKnight's plight.

McKnight, his wife and three children, started hitchhiking for Florida Saturday night because he couldn't find a job here. They were light clothing. McKnight had only 20 cents in his pocket.

McKnight, 26, said that after failing to find work in Milwaukee he had lined up a job on a fishing boat in Miami, Fla., and had to get there by Wednesday. A business executive bought the family a $130 bus ticket to Florida.

"If I ever hear anyone say anything bad about Milwaukee, I'm going to club him," McKnight said. "You sure got a lot of terrific people around here."

Troops to Stay as Long As Needed, Johnson Says In Message to Allies

BY TOM OCHILTREE

PARIS (AP)—President Johnson assured the North Atlantic Alliance today that the United States will maintain its troop strength in Europe so long as of President Kennedy.

Johnson's promise was contained in a message reading:

Secretary of State Dean Rusk at the opening of NATO's 3-day winter ministerial meeting to survey the state of Western defenses and hopes for peace.

Johnson stressed that his administration would continue the late President Kennedy's strong line of support for NATO.

Johnson called for "a balanced NATO defense posture, including powerful nuclear and non-nuclear forces, which will deter aggression." The President added:

Offers Reassurance

"To NATO's continuing fulfillment of this task, I pledge my country's will and resources. We will keep in Europe the equivalent of six American divisions that are now deployed there, so long as they are needed; and under present circumstances there is no doubt that they will continue to be needed."

With his pledge, the new American President tried to put at rest the speculation that has been current in Europe since the "Big Lift" exercise two months ago that a sizable withdrawal of U.S. troops was in the wind. Other U.S. officials have also given such assurances repeatedly since Big Lift.

Johnson said U.S. fulfillment of its NATO commitments is "a lasting memorial to the stature of these men are needed."

But he also called on America's allies to do their part, saying:

"I am confident that our allies will also make their full contributions to this NATO defense, so that the burdens and responsibilities of partnership may be equitably shared."

Military strength—both nuclear and non-nuclear—is useful only as it serves political ends.

"Our task is to ensure that NATO remains an effective means for concerting these ends, as well as for building that strength."

British Foreign Secretary Richard A. Butler called for continuing contacts with the Soviet Union for an easing of East-West tensions. But he promised Britain would do nothing to upset Western strategy. His remarks inside the closed door session were reported to newsmen by a NATO spokesman.

Fliers' Bodies Discovered In Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The bodies of three American aviators missing after their helicopter crashed into the ocean were recovered on a lonely beach in central Viet Nam today.

The bodies were flown to Saigon for an autopsy to determine the cause of death. No wreckage was sighted.

The copilot, only survivor of the crash 15 miles south of Quang Ngai, told authorities the helicopter crashed Saturday night half a mile offshore as it started to land to pick up wounded Vietnamese troops.

Not Combat Victims

The American spokesman said the three dead Americans were considered noncombat casualties.

The copilot said the helicopter was coming in for a landing "when suddenly I found water around my knees." Two accompanying helicopters completed their missions.

The copilot swam ashore and spent Saturday night hiding in the bushes. He contacted government rescuers Sunday.

A U.S. officer was killed when Communist guerrillas fired at a battalion of Vietnamese infantrymen in the jungles of northern Quang Tin province. The officer was an adviser to the battalion. There were no other government casualties.

6 Children Die as Fire Destroys Duplex Home at Portland, Maine

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—Five little girls and a boy died early today when fire raced through their duplex home near downtown Portland.

William F. Harrigan said the fire started around midnight when he spilled oil while trying to light a space heater.

Slept on Upper Floor

Harrigan and his wife, Leona, were on the first floor. Their seven children and three state wards who lived with the family were asleep on the second floor of the wood frame house.

The 40-year-old railroad employee and his wife succeeded in helping three of their children out of the house before they were forced to flee the smoke and flames. A fourth child made her own way to safety.

But three daughters and the three state wards died in the flaming house. A medical examiner said all six suffocated. The survivors were held over-

FREMONT — Mail balloting to elect directors of the Fremont Chamber of Commerce will be attempted for the first time this year in an effort to promote the largest possible membership vote.

Results will be announced before the January banquet meeting. The event will feature installation of officers.

Planning the banquet will be Ed Allie, president; Frank Smith, vice president; Harry Zuehlke, secretary; William Mathwig, treasurer, and Ronald Abbott, director.

Proxmire Says Johnson Should Fire John Kelly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., says that President Johnson should fire John M. Kelly as the government's "top policymaker" on oil and gas "because of his close identification with the oil industry."

Proxmire also said Saturday the new President was "morally right" in delegating final authority over the oil industry to the Interior Department, headed by Secretary Stewart L. Udall.

The senator said he had opposed Kelly's appointment in the department because he was an oil producer and "still has vast oil interests."

"His appointment obviously represented a direct and flagrant conflict of interest," Proxmire said.

The senator also said he had opposed the appointment of Jerome J. O'Brien of Midland, Texas, as head of the interior department's office of oil and gas. O'Brien was a vice president of the giant Humble Oil and Refining Co. before taking the post.

Teen-Agers Have Drinking Party

LITTLE CHUTE — Six boys, 15 and 16-years old, have been referred to juvenile authorities as a result of a drinking party at Doyle Park Friday night.

Police broke up the party and said that a fifth of whiskey, a fifth of brandy and a pint of rum had been stolen by three boys from Jansen Beer and Liquor Store, 507 E. Lincoln Ave. The other three boys were invited to the party by the youths who stole the liquor.

Outagamie Airport Sets New Passenger Boarding Record

Single-Day Mark of Almost 70 Get on Pair of Flights Friday

The pre-holiday travel season is just starting to pick up momentum, but already has resulted in a new passenger boarding record at Outagamie County Airport.

A single-day mark of some 65 to 70 passengers boarded a pair of North Central Airlines DC-3's at the county terminal bound for Chicago at 4:15 p.m. Friday, Herman Jolitz, airline station manager, said. The boardings far surpassed those of any one day in the past, he added.

To accommodate the heavy booking, an extra flight was called in from Chicago. This is not the first time in the county port's history that an additional flight was needed but it was the first time that both the regular and special flights were booked solid, Jolitz said.

The second record movement capped three busy days at the port in which another record was set. Jolitz said that more than 150 passengers were logged by North Central during the three-day period beginning Wednesday—this with the travel peak still more than a week away.

Friday's mark may not hold up through the month. About four or five days before Christmas is when the greatest passenger turnover can be expected, Jolitz said.

In December a year ago the airline had "exceptional" passenger boardings, mail and freight traffic, Jolitz said, but he added that the trend so far this year indicates that the 1962 marks will be topped.

Jolitz said Friday's record passenger load was comprised mainly of Lawrence College students heading home for the holiday vacation.

November Records November records at the terminal for 1962 and 1963 show a general upswing this year in three traffic categories. Outgoing passengers in November numbered 507, compared with 469 last year. More than doubled was the poundage of air freight—8,090 in 1963 compared with 4,028 in 1962—and the airmail poundage climbed 290, from 1,190 in 1962 to 1,488 this year.

Air express traffic dropped. A total of 2,056 pounds departed via North Central at the Outagamie Airport in November, 1962, while 1,484 pounds were shipped during the same period a year ago.

At Green Bay's Austin Straubel Field, North Central Airlines reported a seasonal passenger traffic decline during November, but its report does not cover the holiday traffic period.

During the past month, the airline had 3,274 originating passengers compared with 3,967 for October and 3,184 terminating passengers compared with 3,713. In the same month last year 2,961 passengers began and ended their trips, respectively.

Authorities Continue to Investigate Series of Weekend Crashes in Area

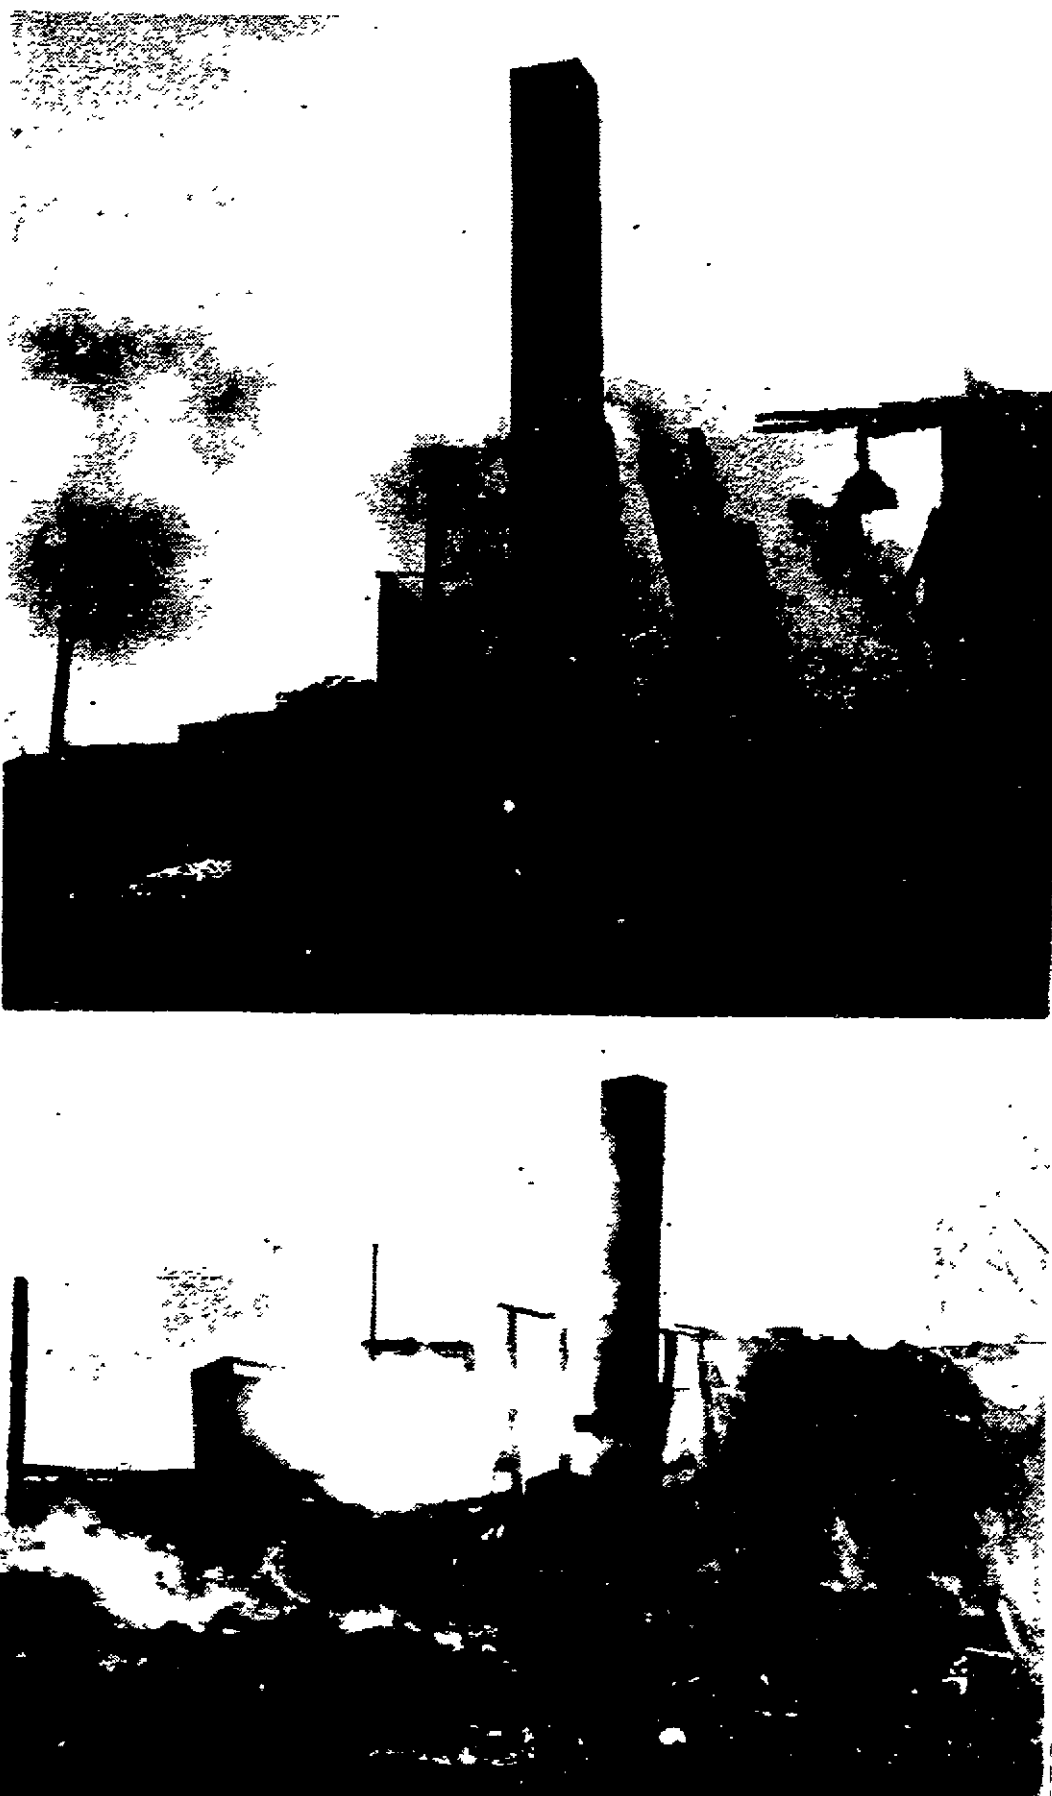

CHILTON—Four persons were injured in four accidents in Calumet County during the week-end.

Dallas G. Schwalenberg, 24, Potter, was taken to Calumet Memorial Hospital with head injuries and facial cuts after a car he was driving collided with an auto driven by Kenny Schis-el, 24, Hilbert, at 1:15 p.m. Saturday on State 114 one-half mile west of Potter. Schisel suffered cuts on the chin and arm.

Schisel told Brillion police he was driving west on State 114 when the collision occurred. Potter had been stolen by three boys from Jansen Beer and Liquor Store, 507 E. Lincoln Ave. The other three boys were invited to the party by the youths who stole the liquor.

Police broke up the party and said that a fifth of whiskey, a fifth of brandy and a pint of rum had been stolen by three boys from Jansen Beer and Liquor Store, 507 E. Lincoln Ave. The other three boys were invited to the party by the youths who stole the liquor.

Man Hurt at Mishap Scene

Kenneth Bodoh Hit By Car Sunday Near Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — A rural Clintonville man who stopped at the scene of an accident was injured himself when he stepped out onto the path of a car.

Kenneth Bodoh, 42, route 2, Clintonville, was taken to Clintonville Community Hospital for treatment of a knee injury Sunday afternoon. Waupaca County traffic patrolman Bernard Pipkorn said. Bodoh was struck by a car driven by Paul C. Fritz, 71, 725 Depot St., Manawa, according to police. Fritz was traveling north at a low speed.

Bodoh had stopped after Donald L. Hanson, 20, route 1, Clintonville, lost control of his car on a curve on old State 156 about two miles east of here at 3:45 p.m. Sunday. The car went into the ditch on the left hand side of the road. Hanson was traveling south. Damages were estimated at $250 to the car.

Hanson was arrested on a charge of driving too fast for conditions and is scheduled to appear in court Wednesday.

Federal School Aid

STEVENS POINT (AP)—The U.S. commissioner of education has told Wisconsin State College administrators that federal programs should ultimately lead to the city limits. KHS Vocal Christmas Concert Set Thursday

KAUKAUNA — The Christmas vocal concert will be triple trios consisting of Jean Schmidt, Carla Plotz and Linda Vanderloop. First sopranos: Linda Verhagen, Jeanne Mullen and Sandra Verhagen, second sopranos, and Judith Jansen, Barbara Nagan, 60-voice Junior High Choir, 60-voice Freshmen Choir and a 35-voice Boys' Glee Club.

The second group will have performing ballet numbers Cynthia Seif, Noreen Meinert during the singing of "Nutcracker Suite" by the Senior Choir Elizabeth Van Dyke, Susan Lust will be Caroline Brenzel, Jill Kobin, Gail School and Betty Van Dyke.

Also appearing on the program are the pro-lined by the conservation department are as follows:

MAINTAIN natural shoreline beauty; avoid erosion of soil and spinning car wheels by keeping slopes at a modest grade, create an adequate buffer zone between private and public property, gear the size and number of the launching sites to the capacity of the lake for public use; install comfort facilities for a multiple use facility with swimming, boating and picnicking. This should be at least five acres. A campground will require at least 40 acres. However, only the portion required for boat access will be eligible for state aid.

Minimum Width It also recommends providing a road of 20-foot minimum width and 10 by 22 feet for parking for a car and 10 by 43 feet for parking for a car and trailer.

Specific recommendations are for approach roads at a minimum of 50 feet wide with sufficient maneuvering and docking space. A minimum of 100 feet in frontage and a multiple use facility requires at least 400 feet of frontage.

The parking space for boat access sites are for lakes of less than 100 acres, one space for every two acres of water and sites for 100 cars or more which launching them at the public access amounts to one-half acre of land for cars only and a full acre for cars and trailers.

Parking space for a multiple use facilities should include at least 400 feet of shoreline length and acreage available.

Lakes of less than 100 acres need only one site, lakes of more than 100 acres and rivers will best have an access site for each mile of shoreline. One ramp can accommodate 30 to 50 landings a day.

Slopes can be up to 15 percent but 10 percent is preferable and the approach roads should not exceed a 25 percent grade.

Auxiliary facilities include landscaping to improve aesthetics, picnic tables and other improvements.

Cost-Sharing The new law, as interpreted by Dan Foltz, district fish manager here, may make it possible for the towns of Dayton and Farmington to provide good public access and parking areas on a cost-sharing project with the state.

The county board also has a policy of improving boat landing areas if the land is acquired and deeded to the county. By using the state and county to participate in a development project or by combining the cost to the municipal-Manawa Convalescent Home in its would or could be small.

In the Chain O'Lakes area, many visitors have been indebted to the Grand Army Home for providing a top quality decorated Christmas cookies luncheon. The home was decorated by Mrs. Robert Fasher, Mrs. Rhinold Plotz, Mrs. Arthur Sturm Jr., Mrs. Walter E. Miller, Mrs. Olen Heinrich, Mrs. William Shaw's Landing, the new legislation could cut the cost by half or less.

Shaw's Landing In the Shaw's Landing case, it might be possible for the Town of Mukwa to ask the state to pay half the cost for the undeveloped area for public parking. When the land is acquired by this method, it could be donated to the county for improvement. Mrs. Leonard Jawort and Mrs. Arthur Patti Background music was directed by Mrs. Gordon Suchs. Christmas cookies were furnished by Mrs. Alfred Thiel and Mrs. William Garzke Sr.

A skit, "Christmas Away From Home" was presented by Mrs. Leonard Jawort and Mrs. Arthur Patti Background music was directed by Mrs. Gordon Suchs. Christmas cookies were furnished by Mrs. Alfred Thiel and Mrs. William Garzke Sr.

This would give the county another major boat launching area at a point midway between New London and the county launching area at Gull's Landing. It would be a welcome addition for many county and visiting boating and fishing fans.

If the cost of the land at Shaw's Landing is insignificant, the township could buy the land and donate it to the county. The county board in turn could apply for state cost-sharing.

The procedure for acquisition of participation funds is to have a city, village, town or county pass a resolution requesting state aid. This is presented at a conservation department field office or at Madison where it will be assigned to a fish management division area supervisor. Richard F. Harris Oshkosh.

Inspection Tour The area supervisor or persons assigned by him will act as liaison with the applicant and set up an inspection tour. Taking the investigation will be a fish management representative, local representative and a departmental engineer if the engineering division feels engineering is required.

If preliminary approval is granted, applicants are asked to submit final plans, estimated costs and show proof that the sponsor is owner of the lands involved.

Desirable guidelines as outlined by the conservation department are as follows:

MAINTAIN natural shoreline beauty; avoid erosion of soil and spinning car wheels by keeping slopes at a modest grade, create an adequate buffer zone between private and public property, gear the size and number of the launching sites to the capacity of the lake for public use; install comfort facilities for a multiple use facility with swimming, boating and picnicking. This should be at least five acres. A campground will require at least 40 acres. However, only the portion required for boat access will be eligible for state aid.

Desirable guidelines as outlined by the conservation department are as follows:

Report New London Yule Mail Down 50 Per Cent

NEW LONDON — Outgoing mail at the New London Post Office is down an estimated 50 per cent for this time of the year. Postmaster Albert VanAlstine, said Saturday.

Normally mail starts to increase about Dec. 10, he said. This year both incoming and outgoing mail and parcel post is unusually low.

Christmas being on a Wednesday this year may have some bearing on delaying of Christmas mailing, Van Alstine said. However, he warned Christmas cards and packages mailed later than Dec. 21 probably won't be delivered before Christmas. This may even include local mail if there is an unusually heavy load, he added.

There will be once a day mail delivery before the holidays with only one extra carrier and one extra clerk added to the staff of the New London Post Office.

7 Left Homeless by Fire Near Appleton

Flash Blaze Sweeps Apartment Dwelling; 2 Tots Evacuated

Seven persons, including two young children, were left homeless when a flash fire early Sunday morning swept through a four-apartment dwelling a mile south of Appleton along U.S. 10.

The two tots, aged one and two, were evacuated from the smoke filled one-story frame structure moments before the apartment they and their mother, Mrs. Sharon Tolly, occupied was filled with flames.

The building's owner, Mrs. Anne Melchior, route 2, Menasha, said she slipped on a coat and slippers when she awakened and saw smoke pouring through the building. She dashed into the Tolly apartment, grabbed one of the children while the mother took the other, and ran for safety.

A neighbor, Francis Jost, was the first to notice the fire. He awakened Gary G. Delaware, occupant of the apartment in which the blaze is believed to have started.

Spread Alarm

Grant and Jost spread the alarm among the other occupants and called the Harrison Fire Department from Mrs. Melchior's apartment. Firemen were called about 6:30 a.m., according to Gordon Vande Hey, chief of Harrison Co. No. 2, which is stationed at Lake Park. The township's other unit, stationed at Sherwood, assisted with water. Firemen remained at the scene until 1:30 p.m., Vande Hey said.

Will the Common Market Break Up?

When President de Gaulle threatened several weeks ago to take France out of the European Economic Community if there wasn't agreement on a common agricultural policy by the end of this year, the general supposition was that it was a political threat. But last week the French cabinet endorsed De Gaulle's position. Minister of Agriculture Pisani was ordered back to Brussels with "very firm instructions" to insist the deadline be met.

The agricultural argument is mainly between France and Germany. And the German cabinet didn't help the situation by issuing a defiant statement setting up new conditions for an agreement with France.

And now the odds have changed in the betting over whether the Common Market will break up. The percentage is still in favor of unity winning out, but not by much of a margin.

When the Treaty of Rome was signed in 1957, it envisaged a common agricultural policy for the six member nations, to be achieved in stages. Eventually there would be free trade in farm products. But the EEC has been stuck ever since over implementing the first stage, which would set one internal price for grains such as wheat.

The problem is that the French price of wheat is the lowest in the group. German farmers are by far the least efficient and the German price for wheat has been kept high through duties and government subsidy. The French are insisting the Common Market price be set near the French level.

Officials in Brussels are now speculating at the vast consequences of a break-up in the Common Market.

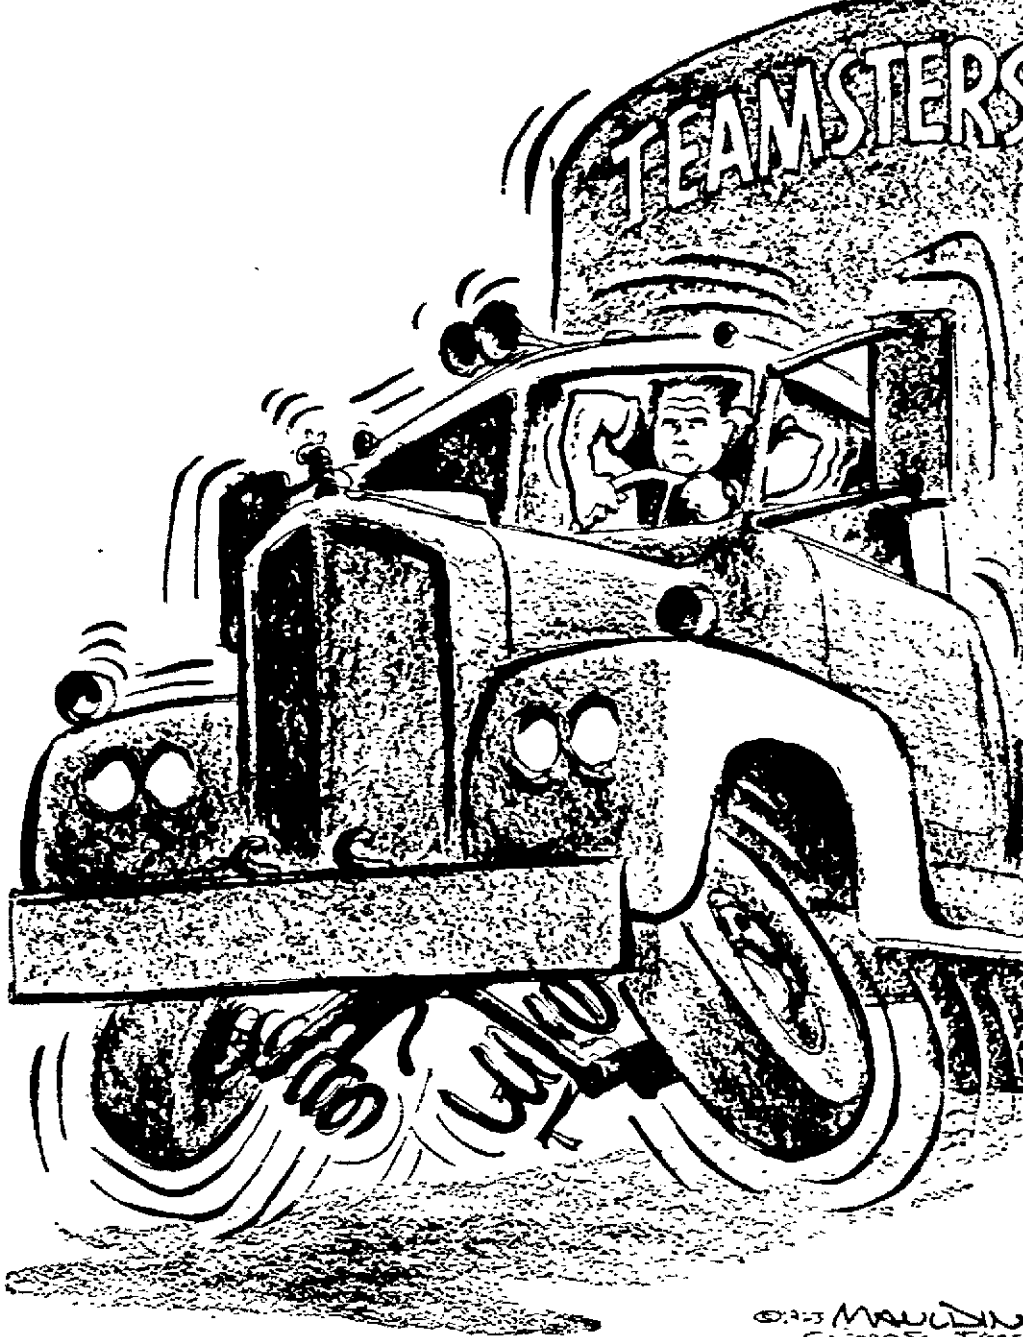

It's suggested that five of the Market members would probably join the European Free Trade Association, now composed of seven nations lying just outside the EEC, and led by Britain and the Scandinavian countries. This would completely isolate France.

The implications for U. S. business would also be vast. Immediately it would cancel the so-called Kennedy round of tariff negotiations scheduled to begin between the U. S. and the EEC next year.

The 1,000 odd U. S. businesses with European connections would be affected differently. Those with plants in Britain would gain, but U. S. companies operating in France would also find themselves isolated.

At the start of this year the Common Market was the bright shining star on the world economic horizon. But much has happened this year to cast considerable clouds over its future. The unhappy events began with France's veto of British membership, and the relationship between France and the other five members has been strained ever since.

The new French ultimatum may be the straw that will break EEC's back.

America Must Build for Peace; United Nations Best Approach

Editor, Post-Crescent:

We can all aid the cause of peace.

There is no substitute for information and there are interested citizens who are taking time and effort to define the subjects of peace and disarmament so that anyone can understand the issues involved. Peace makes life worth living and enables all men of all nations to grow and hope and build better lives for this generation and others to come. All mankind wants peace but we must preserve and secure a genuine peace without reservations.

We must act the united way, taking an active interest in questions on peace, defense and disarmament by becoming informed on the arguments which seem so complicated to us and absorb the information so that we as American citizens can express our opinions in group discussion, whatever group they may be, in our society and then also write to our senators or congressmen as individuals. They need all the support and service they can get on debates and decisions on peace and disarmament.

We can also as a group, or individually support our United Nations financially. The United Nations is our key to peace and has been on different occasions in the past. We can develop it into a world security system, resolving disputes on a basis of world law, insuring security and creating ley Council. Members of the winning patrol were Don Verkuilen, Tony Rooyakkers, William Wachtendonck, Floyd Hopfensperger and Tony Van Ruit.

The committee in charge of the Bruhlon Lions Club Christmas party and meeting included A. J. Leider, chairman, M. P. Becker and Edward Eick.

10 YEARS AGO

Monday, Dec. 14, 1953. Carl Stumpf of Appleton was picked as the most valuable player on the Lawrence Viking football team. Stumpf was co-captain of the team with another Appleton player, Maury Locklin. They led the team to third place in the Midwest Conference race with six wins, one loss and one tie.

Friendly Valley 4-H Club, Forest Junction, presented a dramatic evening for its Christmas program for parents. Taking part in the one-act play were Renae Ott, Thomas Stenklyft, David Krueger, Naomi Stanelle and Diane Huebner. Diane Haaczynski presented accordion selections.

Four Appleton students at universities were honored for their scholastic achievements. Rosalind Schlomovitz, junior student at the University of Michigan, was pledged to Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary journalism fraternity. Maury L. Steiner and Gordon L. McComb both were awarded sophomore honors for excellence of their work at the University of Wisconsin. Kenneth P. Dorschner, also a student at the state university, was initiated into the national honorary scientific society, Sigma Xi.

conditions to abolish arms. The United Nations provide a method of communication and action and it provides a buffer in critical moments and between struggle and escalation. However, it is not organized to settle all matters.

Our main interest in the talk with Geneva was a general and complete disarmament taking place by stages, permitting parallel political developments to build new institutions for peace to take the place of arms, so that all nations can better know what the problems and possibilities are.

Air Base Visitors Greeted With Smile

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A friendly greeting awaits all those qualified to enter Lockbourne Air Force Base.

An air policeman on the main gate, Staff Sgt. Robert Rickard, has gotten into the habit of offering a personal spoken greeting to each vehicle as it passes after being checked.

"I don't know how it started," says Rickard, called the "happiest cop in the Air Force" by many of his friends. "Just common courtesy. I greet about 3,000 autos each morning, but payday is a real workout" (with an estimated 11,000 to 12,000 cars).

Outdated Draying Leads to New Name

HONOLULU (AP) — With nary a horse left in its venerable stables, Honolulu Construction & Draying Company Ltd., streamlined its title and came up to date.

The old Honolulu firm now, in fact, has one of the shortest names in the yellow pages — HC&D.

A top company official, pointing out that the company hasn't used a drayhorse for years, said the company name was changed because "draying is archaic."

in the United States that can give the Soviet Union more enlightened attitude on world peace, law and disarmament. We can define our goals more clearly by making peace more manageable and less remote and hoping from it, therefore, we can engage in a peaceful competition without threats.

We must seek to keep peace inside the non-communist world, of which are our friends. They are divided over issues that weaken the western unity and invites communist intervention and threatens to erupt into war. We defend the frontiers of freedom by pursuing the paths of peace.

A direct line between Moscow and Washington could avoid dangerous delays on both sides — misunderstanding and misreadings of the other's actions which could occur in a time of crisis.

Our test ban treaty speaks for itself. It is a step to peace but does not completely limit the nuclear arms race. It is hope for further measures to arrest and control dangerous competition for increasing destructive weapons. It can relieve world tension and curb pollution from the atmosphere. It does not provide full security against war because atmosphere tests are possible.

This nation has got a technique to detect nuclear tests of other nations conducted only in the air and underwater.

Therefore measures are needed to arms control designed to limit intensity of an arms race and reduce the risks of an accidental war.

America must remain constantly alert — building for a world of peace where the weak are safe and the strong just, confident and unafraid we must be united in a crusade for peace.

Anyone who would like more information can write to the arms control and disarmament agency in Washington.

Seat in Legislature Not a Very Desirable Occupation Right Now

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The increasingly doubtful rewards of service in the state legislature might have been illustrated by the greeting to senators and assemblymen arriving for the special session last week by one of the Madison newspapers. The publication peremptorily bade the lawmakers to go home again, thus avoiding a needless waste of public tax money.

Aside from the casual way in which this critic employed legislative expenditure figures, there is represented in the episode the contempt and suspicion and denigration of the legislative process that has become a habit of mind for many persons.

Once a nomination for the state legislature was an honorable and desirable thing. It was a kind of tour of duty for the man of achievement and stature in his own neighborhood. Those were gentler and more reflective times. Today if the legislator is not the low man on the political totem pole in Wisconsin, he is so near the bottom that the distinction is not readily discernible.

THE COSTS

There is a great indignation about the cost of the legislature. Legislative expenditures have indeed risen, but not to the degree that governmental costs as a whole have advanced.

For days the news dispatches have emphasized, with a prominence that distorts the purpose of the special session, that the lawmakers will be eligible for $15 a day in expense reimbursement while they remain in their chambers on duty. There is the hint implicit in such accounts that these are greedy men, unfairly imposing on the public purse.

Yet the number of regular civil servants of the state government establishment, or representatives of private enterprise, who would willingly leave their homes and jobs for a fee of $15 a day to cover their expenses in such a city as Madison must be few. As a guess, there are few among the thousands of expense vouchers filed with the state auditors that average less than $15 for hotel, meals and other disbursements.

The plain fact of the matter, as every reasonably objective student of contemporary politics knows, is that there are scores of men whose talents and experience would be richly useful in legislative service, who are utterly removed from the candidate recruitment because they are unwilling or unable to make the financial sacrifice. Conversely, the elimination of many of such creative and productive citizens from political service tends to make the prevailing rate of pay attractive to mediocre and inferior men who are able to run successfully because of the lack of real competition in many districts.

CHANGING SYSTEM

Members of the present legislature have already come to Madison at three separate times thus far this year, and they know that they will have at least one more session next spring, and possibly more.

The system was not designed for such a long duration of deliberations. The standard for generations was a relatively short, six or seven months, calendar of Madison work during a two year period.

The evolution of the present program of longer sessions in fragmented form resulted from the growth in the size and complexity of governmental problems, and the narrow and uncertain partisan alignment of recent years which has brought government by factional compromise.

There is no real prospect for relief or change. Legislative service will continue to be more demanding in time and money, with the result that the seats are likely to appear less desirable to qualified men and women. Deterioration of the legislative branch of the state government will be difficult to avoid as a consequence.

We're Nation of Many Cookbooks, Poor Food

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Looking through the new catalog of a publishing firm, I was tempted to paraphrase the famous words in Ecclesiastes to "of making many cookbooks there is no end."

This was a catalog of books to be published in the coming four months only. The new titles included "The Art of Spaghetti Cooking," "The Art of Danish Cooking," "The Best of Near Eastern Cookery," "The Art of India's Cookery," "Bride in the Kitchen," "The Art of Fruit Cookery," "Never in the Kitchen When Company Arrives," and — you won't believe it — "The Secret of Cooking for Dogs."

There is a saying among book publishers that it is impossible to make money on a book of poetry and impossible to lose money on a cookbook. Each year, hundreds of new ones are spewed forth by the presses, to fit all conceivable and a few inconceivable needs and tastes.

No other nation, at least to my knowledge, has so voluminous a literature on cooking — and no other nation has so many bad cooks, except perhaps the English, of whom Voltaire justly exclaimed, "What sort of country is it that has 72 religions and only one sauce?"

The poorest peasant in France eats better food, more tastefully prepared, than the average middle-class American. It is absolutely unbelievable that a nation so rich, so ingenious, and so demanding of high standards in other areas of living would permit itself to suffer the indignities of less-than-mediocre cooking in nearly all public places.

Millions of cookbooks are merrily sold, but the level of American cuisine remains deplorably low. Our children grow up munching hamburgers, French fries drenched in catsup, and washing down this dull mass with sickeningly sweet beverages. To offer the ordinary American child a meal composed with imagination, flavor and flair is to understand the full import of the Biblical allusion to casting pearls before swine.

Our passion for cookbooks must be some elaborate and ritualistic form of expiating our culinary sins; and has about as much impact on our national cuisine as placing a Bible in every room of a brothel would have upon the morals of the inmates and the habits of the patrons.

Brillat-Savarin, in his immortal collection of aphorisms on the pleasures of the table, said, "Dis-moi ce que tu manges, je te dirai ce que tu es." ("Tell me what you eat, and I will tell you what you are.") It may be unfair to judge an individual this way, who, after all, is a victim of circumstance and upbringing. But is it so unfair to judge an entire nation by its gastronomic life?

Deserters, Runaways in Canada

106 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Dec. 17, 1853.

The Newburyport Herald says that from letters from Canada and from men who have recently visited there, it has received information that there are at least 40,000 men in the British Provinces — men who have served from six months to a year and a half in our armies.

Some were broken down in spirits and health by the hardships of war; some suffered ill treatment from drunken or brutal officers; more of them, having sick furloughs or liberty to visit their homes, overstayed their time and feared to go back.

Most of them would now gladly return to duty if they could be assured that they could do so without being exposed to the terrors of a court martial and punishment.

The Herald thinks a Proclamation to that effect by the President would restore at least 20,000 men to their regiments before the first of January.

Program for Latin America Has Troubles

Johnson Trying to Put New Impetus Into the Alliance

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress sounded glamorous when he announced it. But it had trouble getting off the ground, grew increasingly rocky.

Now, after two years, President Johnson, as one of the first important acts of his administration, is trying to put new life into it.

Kennedy proposed the alliance, to help the social and economic development of Latin America, in his State of the Union message to Congress in January 1961. He outlined a 10-point program for it March 13 of that year.

Liked Sound
He even liked the sound of the program and repeated it in Spanish many times: "La Alianza para el Progreso." He described it as "Progress, yes! Tyranny, no!"

It was to be a $20 billion program, with the major share coming from the United States. So far the United States has committed loans and grants totaling $2.3 billion.

The Latin American governments for their part were to put in reforms to give the masses of their people a better life and more of a share in it: Tax reforms, land reforms, education, industrialization.

Kennedy pointed out conditions in Latin America: Life expectancy, 46 years, compared with 70 in this country; almost half of all Latin American adults can't read; about 50 per cent of the children have no schools to attend.

Latin America is a land where the rich stay rich and the poor are helpless. In effect, Kennedy said: Reform or perish.

Signed Charter
On Aug. 16, 1961 the United States and 19 other American countries signed an alliance charter. They pledged themselves to "end those conditions which benefit the few at the expense of the needs and the dignity of the many."

But months were spent in getting the American end of the alliance organized. The chief American administrator, Teodoro Moscoso, wasn't sworn in until the middle of November 1961.

But just three months later, The Associated Press was reporting from Central America—despite all the fanfare—that the alliance had no clear image there and its future was uncertain.

AP Report
By the end of 1962, The Associated Press was reporting from Latin America that there was too much restlessness and resentment there to make Uncle Sam a permanently popular neighbor, and years of strife lay ahead.

And Nov. 15, 1963 W. Averell Harriman, undersecretary of state, went to Brazil where the American republics put the alliance under examination. He admitted there had been mistakes on all sides.

Officials in Washington and Latin America were quick to agree the alliance had not accomplished in its two years all it should have. Among the factors causing delay: Political instability in some countries, some irresponsible if not corrupt governments, economic troubles in most of them, plus opposition to reform by the rich.

And Dec. 1, 1963, an Associated Press reporter wrote after a tour of Latin America:

Meant Little
"So far the alliance has meant little to the people of South America." One high official said it had failed to capture the imagination of the people. Another said it was bogged down in red tape.

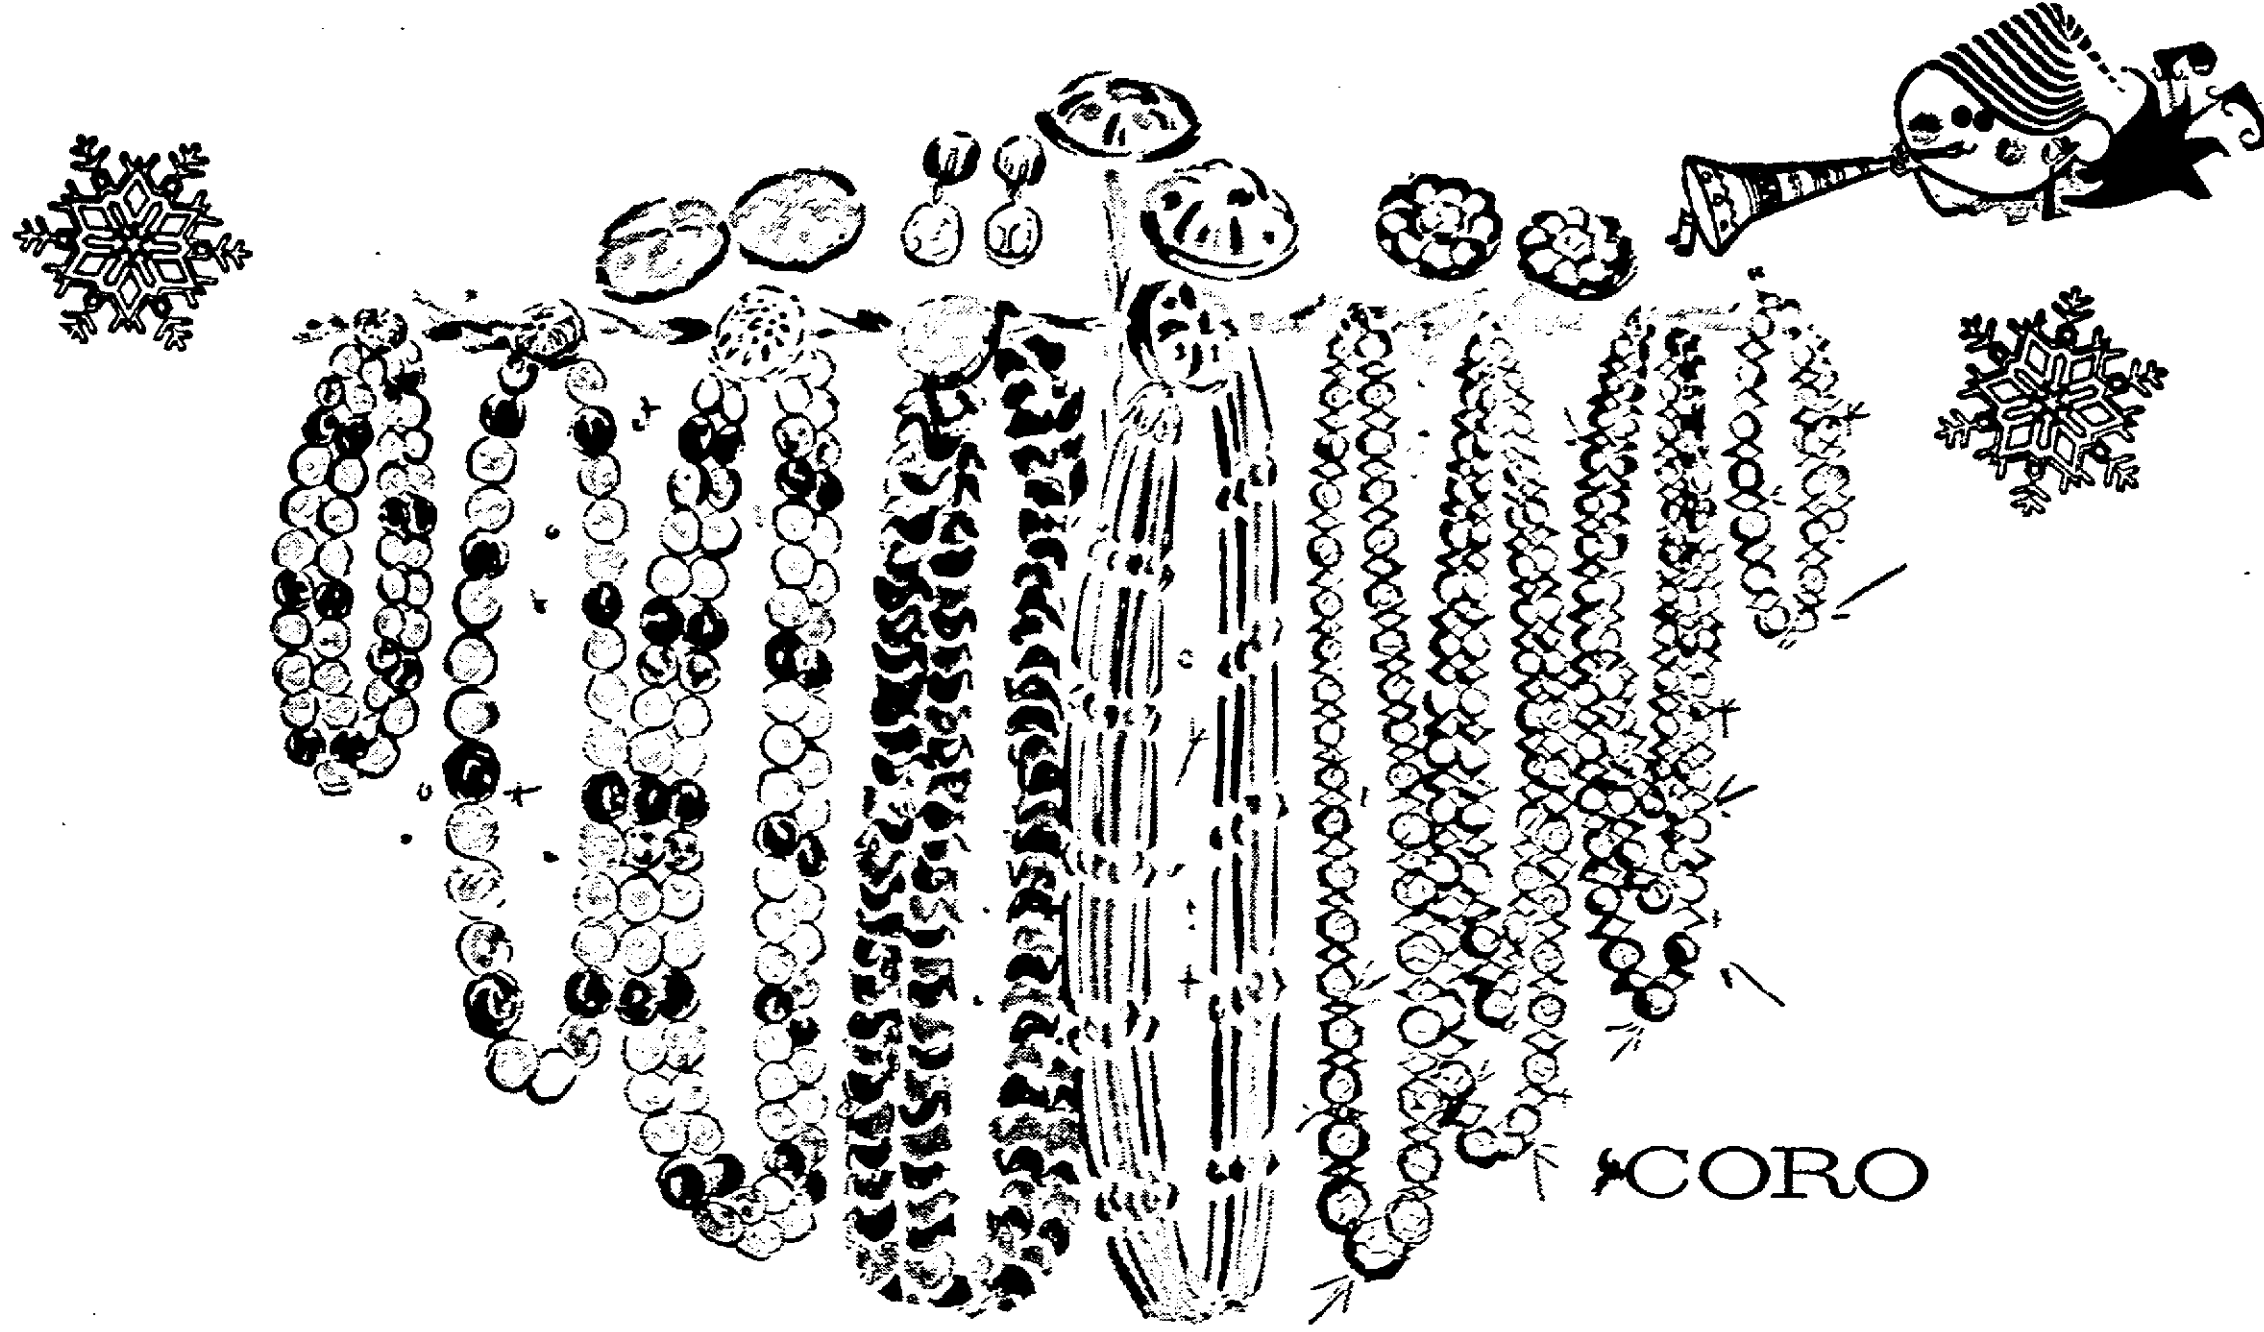

Among the criticisms of Latin American leaders:

The United States is more concerned with building immediate defenses against communism than with eradicating the basic conditions of misery and want that encourage communism.

Another was that this country is using the alliance as a means of enforcing a kind of colonialism in protecting U.S. business interests. And there were complaints this country lays down too many conditions for the aid it gives.

With all this piling up, Johnson decided to act. Saturday he picked Thomas C. Mann, ambassador to Mexico and a personal friend from Texas, as assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs.

Mann replaced Edwin M. Martin, who is to be given an ambassadorship. Under Kennedy, Martin and Moscoso were equals in handling Latin American policy. It is believed Mann will be the boss of the works, over Moscoso.

Western specialists in Soviet budgets insist that approxi- mately half the annual Soviet expenditure is associated with the military, about the same proportion as in the United States.

Can't Make Comparison
However, there is no immedi- ate means of making a clear comparison between Soviet budgets and American budgets. The Soviet budget, unlike the American, includes investments in industry which are made by private operators in America.

The budget proposed by the late President John F. Ken- nedy for the current fiscal year, now half gone, came to $98.8 billion, of which $55.4 billion was earmarked for defense.

Keep Up Defenses
The finance minister empha- sized the cutback in military spending will not weaken Rus- sia's defenses.

"These appropriations will enable the Soviet Union to maintain its defenses at a level that would ensure the security of the country and the entire Socialist camp," he said.

The budget called for expend- iture of 11.9 billion rubles ($13.2 billion) in 1964 on the lagging Soviet agriculture. Gar- buzov said this was 22.7 per cent more than the 1963 alloca- tion. He said the 1964 expendi- ture on agriculture would be 12.8 billion rubles ($14.2 bil- lion).

The manufacturers expect their inventories to grow early next year by the same $400 mil- lion figure. In the current quar- ter stocks are increasing by $600 million to an expected $59.7 billion at yearend.

Predictions of Walter W. Hel- ler, chairman of the economic advisers to the President, are optimistic.

He says the total dollar value of the nation's production of goods and services to top $620 billion next year — always with that proviso that Congress act promptly to cut taxes. This Gross National Product is now expected to be about $548 bil- lion for all of 1963.

Journals of various church fathers of the first 150 years after Christ, quoted by the ecclesiastical historian of the 3rd Century, Eusebius, offer many detailed.

The clues suggest that additions and revisions occurred, in some cases, before all the books reached their present finished form.

The process may not have been completed until around the end of the first century. But the original documents, on which the final versions are based,
clearly came much earlier, while Christ's apostles still lived.

Oldest Account
Mark's account generally is considered the oldest in its present form, and apparently underwent little editing after it first was composed in apostolic times. However, the ancient journals say Matthew wrote first.

Assuming this is so, scholarly studies indicate that later renditions of his book, as it now stands, also incorporated material from Mark, while retaining distinctive qualities of its own.
Luke also may have drawn from Mark.

Nevertheless, the initial versions of the books, aside from any later reorganizations or combinations, are attributed in

Appleton Mayor Clarence Mitchell, center, Wednesday was given a brochure of the city's parking facilities by Chamber of Commerce representatives. Making the presentation were Gus A. Zuelke, left, chamber president, and Maurice Wood, chairman of the chamber's parking promotion committee. The brochure contains a map of downtown showing the two city parking ramps, the H. C. Prange Co ramp and the one-way street system. About 50,000 copies will be distributed through merchants.

the earliest church records to the authors whose names they bear.

Matthew and John were among the 12 apostles, with first-hand information.

Luke, a gentle physician drawn into the movement by the great missionary Paul, did wide-scale research and interviews to gather his report.

Jerusalem Scion
Mark, a rich young scion of Jerusalem, was a young lad in Jesus' time, but got his material from the Apostle Peter.

Their accounts differ in content and tenor. John's terse, weighty sentences and short sentences explore the mystery and grandeur of the event. He is more concerned with meaning than incident.

Matthew, in orderly, methodical style, concentrates on ethical implications, recounting 21 parables and the eloquent Sermon on the Mount. Mark is a book of crisp, fast-moving action. He pauses only for four parables, in the hurrying tempo of deeds.

Neither he nor John refers to the genealogy or birth of Jesus,
nor to the visiting Wise Men,
the star, the manger, or the shepherds, but plunge immediately into the consequences. It is Luke who uncovers the most graphic scene of the nativity.

The writers worked in a time of turmoil. Israel smoldered with fires of revolution. Preaching about Christ was alternately outlawed or suspect as sedition.
Fear of reprisal had silenced many.

In this atmosphere, those who were among the first to know the gift of Christmas set about putting it into a form that could be handed on to the generations up to now, and yet to come.

500 Killed in California's Worst Flood

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The worst flood disaster in southern California history came in 1928 when the St. Francis dam burst and killed 500 persons.

When the dam collapsed near midnight March 12, residents of the valley were asleep and no alarm could be given.

A rushing wall of water 125-feet high swept 65 miles from t dam, 11 miles north of Saugus, into the San Francisco Bay Canyon to Montalvo, a coastal town in Ventura County.

The dam, at the time only two years old, crumbled with out warning unleashing 35,000 acre-feet of water. The raging waters whirled through Piru, Fillmore, Bardsdale and went swirling by Santa Paula, 1,700 feet below the dam, in less than three hours, leaving vast destruction in its path.
